

Editor's Notes

By Abbie Brown

Welcome to the convention issue of TechTrends! The 2010 AECT International Convention held in Anaheim, California this past October is at this point a happy memory, but the work accomplished there by AECT officers, divisions and committees sets the tone for the upcoming year and sets the stage for the 2011 convention this November in Jacksonville, Florida. The division, committee and society reports in this issue are required reading for anyone interested in AECT and educational technology in general.

Also in this issue, Carol Walker, Beth Rajan Sockman, and Steven Koehn report on an exploratory study of cyberbullying among undergraduate students; George Engel and Tim Green report on the implementation of a pilot program using cell-phones in a high school mathematics class; and Selami Aydin reports on the findings of a survey conducted among foreign language learners regarding Internet anxiety.
