Editor's Notes

By Abbie Brown

Welcome to this special issue of TechTrends, presented by the AECT Division of School Media and Technology. As guest editors Marty Bray and Randy Hollandsworth state in School Library Media Specialists: What's in a Name?--A lot it seems...., "It was the adoption of the term School Librarian to replace the term School Library Media Specialist that was the impetus for assembling this collection of articles by the division of school media and technology. " Many thanks to Dr. Bray and Dr. Hollandsworth for soliciting and editing the articles in this special edition.

As always, our thanks to our column and department editors for their contributions to this issue as well. Two of our regular columns, Connellys' Classroom Cutaway and Mentoring the Media are transitioning to the International Student Media Festival (ISMF) website. Classroom Cutaway has already made the change and this issue contains the final Mentoring the Media column. A deep "thank you" to John and Marilyn Connelly and to Linda Bartrom-Olsen for their numerous column contributions to TechTrends, and a hearty "congratulations!" on both columns' transition to the ISMF website.

And, speaking of AECT-related web-based publications, have you seen the Journal of Applied Instructional Design, yet? AECT's newest journal is available online: <http://www.jaidpub.org/>

Errata for Issue 55.2

- It should be noted that Dr. Vicki Napper is chair of the Professional Ethics Committee (this was not clearly reported in the convention report).
- Elizabeth Boling's last name was misspelled in the ECT Intern's column.
