

Erratum to: Hepatitis C virus evasion of adaptive immune responses: a model for viral persistence

Kelly P. Burke · Andrea L. Cox

Published online: 13 May 2010
© Springer Science+Business Media, LLC 2010

Erratum to: Immunol Res
DOI 10.1007/s12026-009-8152-3

The second sentence in the abstract of the article entitled “Hepatitis C virus evasion of adaptive immune responses: a model for viral persistence” by Burke, Kelly P and Cox, Andrea L, should be corrected to read: “Approximately 20% of those acutely infected clear the infection, whereas the remaining 80% progress to chronic infection.”

---

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s12026-009-8152-3.

---

K. P. Burke · A. L. Cox (✉)
Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Rangos Building, Suite 536, 855 N. Wolfe St, Baltimore, MD 21205, USA
e-mail: acox@jhmi.edu