The authors hereby declare that the Figure 4 in page eight of the paper “Stem cells from human exfoliated deciduous teeth modulate early astrocyte response after spinal cord contusion” authored by Fabrício Nicola and colleagues (<https://doi.org/10.1007/s12035-018-1127-4>) was mistakenly included.

The authors apologize for the inconvenience. It happened because of similarity in filenames in the same place. The authors have wrongly attached a figure of another experiment. After being communicated, all authors agreed to submit the appropriate figure (behavioral data of BBB test), which is attached to this email message (The authors can deliver otherwise, if needed).

The online version of the original article can be found at <https://doi.org/10.1007/s12035-018-1127-4>
