This manuscript was erroneously omitted from issue 1 of 2015. The publisher apologizes for this oversight and for any inconvenience that was caused. The introduction refers to the instructions that the invited authors received in the preparation of their contributions to the following Bits & Bytes manuscripts published in issue 1 of the Journal of Cell Communication and Signaling:

Dopamine: an old target in a new therapy by Sushanta K. Banerjee (2015)

How IGF-1 activates its receptor by Robert Baxter (2015)

Heparan sulfate provides a mechanism to respond to FGFR2b and control regenerative expansion by Enrique Brandan (2015)

Cancer resistance, high molecular weight hyaluronic acid, and longevity by Gary J. Fisher (2015)

Stem cell quest by Alexandra Irvine (2015)

Lovastatin rescues human and mice cartilage disorders by Satoshi Kubota (2015)

Yin and Yang revisited: CCN3 as an anti-fibrotic therapeutic? By Andrew Leask (2015)

Another dimension to the importance of the extracellular matrix in fibrosis by Laure Rittié (2015)

Therapeutic targeting of the thrombospondin-1 receptor CD47 to treat liver cancer by David D. Roberts, Sukhbir Kaur and David R. Soto-Pantoja (2015)
