

Introduction to special issue on Humor & Laughter

F. Richard (Ric) Ferraro<sup>1</sup>

Published online: 7 September 2022

© The Author(s), under exclusive licence to Springer Science+Business Media, LLC, part of Springer Nature 2022, corrected publication 2023

It is with great pleasure that I announce another Special Issue of Current Psychology. Tracey Platt (University of Sunderland, UK) has assembled an impressive Special Issue based on something we all need these days – Humor & Laughter. This is truly an International Special Issue and that is reflected in the content as well as the authors. Articles range from individual differences to parental attachment to humor styles across 28 countries. Humor is certainly universal and this Special Issue exemplifies that notion. As COVID ranges on, with Monkey Pox running a close 2nd, this issue should alleviate some of these issues.

As mentioned, other studies from around the globe are included, many with the world's leading experts in these and other related fields. I hope you enjoy this Special Issue.

Publisher's note Springer Nature remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Springer Nature or its licensor holds exclusive rights to this article under a publishing agreement with the author(s) or other rightsholder(s); author self-archiving of the accepted manuscript version of this article is solely governed by the terms of such publishing agreement and applicable law.

---

✉ F. Richard (Ric) Ferraro
f.ferraro@und.edu
<https://www.editorialmanager.com/cups>

<sup>1</sup> Department of Psychology, University of North Dakota,
2921 Columbia Hall, 501 N. Columbia Rd., Stop 8380,
Grand Forks, ND 58202-8380, USA