Welcome to the first issue of Medical Science Educator of 2021. This issue features 45 manuscripts reporting on medical education and one meeting report on the Spring 2020 WAS series, entitled “Evolution and Revolution in Medical Education: Health System Sciences.” I hope the articles will be of interest to you.

The year 2020 has been very successful for the journal as the number of submissions increased substantially. As a result, from now on the journal will be published bi-monthly featuring 6 issues per year. I am very pleased with this development in our effort to grow the journal.

Recently, the Editorial Board welcomed Dr. Lisa McClain, PhD as new associate editor. Dr. McClain is currently the Chief Wellness Officer at Arkansas Colleges of Health Education. She has served as an associate editor for the Journal of the American Osteopathic Association for several years. Dr. McClain started in her new position at our journal per January 2021, and we look forward to working with her.

The Editorial Board is very pleased with the increasing interest for Medical Science Educator, the increasing number of submissions and the large number of new reviewers who applied to offer their services. If you are an IAMSE member and also want to join our reviewer team to assist in this important endeavor, please let us know as we highly appreciate your help!

I hope you will enjoy this issue and that you will continue supporting Medical Science Educator both as a reader and as an author of your own scholarly work for the benefit of our work and the work of others!
