Welcome to the fourth issue of Medical Science Educator of 2021. The current issue features a large number of manuscripts reporting on medical education, which I hope will be of interest to you.

Last June, IAMSE delivered for the second time in a row a very successful virtual annual conference. A large number of members and non-members took the opportunity to join the event and to share their work as a virtual poster or oral presentation. In the weeks before the meeting, the Editorial Board successfully delivered two online reviewer workshops to train our reviewers. And during the IAMSE Business meeting, I had the honor to announce the new members of the Medical Science Educator Distinguished Reviewer Panel and the winner of the Outstanding Reviewer Award. This year, five outstanding reviewers have been appointed to join the prestigious reviewer panel for a 3-year term: Drs Amber J Heck, Jung G Kim, Terrence Ma, Stephen Loftus, and Mark Bevensee. The Outstanding Reviewer Award 2021 has been awarded to Dr Amber J Heck for her outstanding peer review efforts over the past year.

The journal is growing strong, and the Editorial Board is very pleased with this increasing interest for Medical Science Educator. We are also very pleased to see many of our readers offering their services as a reviewer. Still, we are always looking for more colleagues who would like to become part of our reviewer team, so if you want to join us to assist in this important endeavor, please let us know as we highly appreciate your help!

I hope you will enjoy this issue and that you will continue supporting Medical Science Educator both as a reader and as an author of your own scholarly work for the benefit of our work and the work of others!
