Welcome to the sixth issue of Medical Science Educator of 2021. The current issue features a number of manuscripts reporting on medical education, which I hope will be of interest to you. The issue also contains articles in a special section on “Global Perspectives on Health Sciences Education.” A large number of educators responded to our call for manuscripts on this topic. For my introduction to the theme, please read further on in this issue.

I am pleased to see that the journal is still growing strong and clearly has become one of the leading journals in medical education worldwide. This year, we will again receive more submissions than the year before, and as Editorial Board, we are very pleased with this increasing interest. If you want to join our team on this exciting journey by becoming a reviewer for our journal, please let us know by email to journal@iamse.org as we highly appreciate your help!

I hope you will enjoy this issue and that you will continue supporting Medical Science Educator both as a reader and as an author of your own scholarly work for the benefit of our work and the work of others!
