Correction to: Supplier Internationalization Through Upgrading in Global Supply Chain: Evidence from the Garments Industry of Bangladesh

Mahmudul Hasan Fouji¹ · Imranul Hoque¹

Published online: 3 September 2021

© Global Institute of Flexible Systems Management 2021

Correction to:
International Journal of Global Business and Competitiveness
<https://doi.org/10.1007/s42943-021-00025-9>

Allen (Eds.), Upgrading the Global Garment Industry (pp. 13–45). Edward Elgar Publishing.

The original article has been corrected.

Dear Readers,

We apologize for this mistake.

The authors of this article found a possible conflict after publishing their article and, therefore, would like to add some texts and a reference in their paper. The changes in the paper are below:

In text (in sentence number five in the third paragraph on page no. 4 under literature review):

“Extant literature reveals that emerging country suppliers are motivated by their lead buyers to internationalize (Rana et al., 2021; Pananond, 2015). In their pioneering work, Rana et al. (2021) have shown the mechanisms of developing country suppliers’ internationalization in collaboration with their lead buyer.”

In reference section:

Rana, M. B., Allen, M. M., & Servais, P. (2021). Supplier internationalization in the global apparel value chain from Bangladesh to Ethiopia: the buyers business model, institutions and entrepreneurial capability. In M. B. Rana, & M.

The original article can be found online at <https://doi.org/10.1007/s42943-021-00025-9>.

✉ Mahmudul Hasan Fouji
fojiii@gmail.com

Imranul Hoque
imran_du6@yahoo.com

¹ Department of Marketing, Jagannath University, 9-10, Chittaranjan Avenue, Dhaka 1100, Bangladesh