

ANNOUNCEMENT

THE DE LIMA AWARD FOR SCIENTIFIC MERIT

The African Association of Insect Scientists (AAIS) is happy to announce a prize for scientific merit to all contributors to Insect Science and its Application.

The de Lima award was made possible through the kind donation by Dr C. P. F. de Lima, a former Editor within the AAIS Executive Committee. The aims of the award are:

- To promote highest quality scientific publications.
- To motivate young and up-coming African Scientists.

The award will be given to the contributor of the best scientific article in the journal, Insect Science and its Application, from its inception to date. Consideration for the award will not be limited by subject matter, but the articles to be considered should be those dealing with African problems.

The award is open to scientists of all ages. All nominations/applications should reach:
