THE AFRICAN ASSOCIATION OF INSECT SCIENTISTS (AAIS)

The African Association of Insect Scientists (AAIS) was founded in 1978. The objectives of the Association are to promote and advance knowledge on all aspects of insect science in Africa. It does this by publishing the AAIS bulletin, conference proceedings, co-sponsorship of the journal Insect Science and Its Application and by organising international conferences on topical issues pertaining to insect science in the tropics. Recent international biennial conferences were held in Ghana, Nigeria, Egypt, Liberia, Senegal and Zambia.

Membership of the Association is open to all those interested in insect science in Africa. A registration fee of US $20 and an annual subscription of US$20 are payable and this entitles members to attend all conferences organised by the Association, receive the AAIS bulletin and discount on subscription to Insect Science and Its Application.
