ABM News: An update on rankings and boards

Asian Business & Management (2015) 14, 87–90. doi:10.1057/abm.2015.3

I am happy to announce that Asian Business & Management is now listed as a level-2 journal in the Academic Journal Guide 2015 by the Association of Business Schools (United Kingdom). This should increase the attractiveness of the journal to UK-based scholars, which in turn should give a boost to the further development of ABM.

I am further happy to announce a new Editorial Review Board and a new International Advisory Board for ABM. The current line-up is listed below, and I would like to thank all the board members for their willingness to support the work of ABM.

A new element introduced in this reform is that the sitting presidents of all our supporting associations are now ex officio members of the International Advisory Board. We also no longer have a special category of Editorial Advisors. As a result, Ray Loveridge and Gordon Redding have transferred to the International Advisory Board.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank all scholars who have completed their terms and are leaving our boards. Their service and commitment has helped launch and grow ABM, and I would like to express my gratitude by listing their names below as well.
