Letter from the Editor-in-Chief

As you have probably noticed, the Journal of International Business Studies has a new look. Our cover has been altered to mark a special event—JIBS is now a quarterly journal!

The Academy of International Business has co-sponsored JIBS since the journal was launched twenty years ago. It now begins its twenty-first year by becoming a quarterly. This expansion will enable us to publish more of your articles, notes and book reviews in an even more timely manner.

The University of South Carolina is proud to co-sponsor JIBS. We look forward to more progress as our journal continues to grow in both size and prestige.
