Power, intersectionality and the life-course: Identifying the political and economic structures of welfare states that support or threaten health

Dennis Raphael and Toba Bryant

Social Theory & Health (2015) 13, 454. doi:10.1057/sth.2015.22;
published online 22 July 2015

Correction to: Social Theory & Health, advance online publication, 17 June 2015; 10.1057/sth.2015.18

We regret that an incorrect citation year was originally stated in this article, on page 9. The original article observed that ‘Raphael (2014) provides an analysis of the role corporate and business power plays in skewing the distribution of the social determinants of health’. This sentence has been corrected to say ‘Raphael (2015) provides an analysis of the role corporate and business power plays in skewing the distribution of the social determinants of health’.

The remainder of the research has not been affected and no other element of the article is under question.
