Justin G. Schiller Prize

Subjects: Pre-20th-Century Children's Books

Purpose: The Schiller Prize for Bibliographical Work on pre-twentieth century Children's Books is intended to encourage scholarship in the bibliography of historical children's books

Eligibility: Works put into nomination, which must be in English, may concentrate on any children's book printed before the year 1901 in any country or any language. Submissions should involve research into bibliography and printing history broadly conceived and should focus on the physical book as historical evidence for studying topics such as the history of book production, publication, distribution, collecting, or reading. Studies of the printing, publishing, and allied trades, as these relate to children's books, are also welcome. Eligible scholarship may take the form of a published book or article, a master's thesis or doctoral dissertation that has been defended and approved, or research results distributed in another manner, such as on a website or a CD-ROM. Eligible scholarship must have been published, approved, or posted between 1 January and

1 October. Nominations, with copies of the monographs or links to articles and websites, must be completed by 15 November

Level of Study: Unrestricted

Type: Prize

Value: US$3,000

Frequency: Every 3 years

Study Establishment: pre-twentieth century children's books

Country of Study: Any country

Application Procedure: Applications must contain the following items: a letter of intent addressed to the "Schiller Prize Committee," a one-page curriculum vitae, any documentation regarding the approval of a thesis or a dissertation or confirming the date of a publication, if required. A hard copy of a published monograph or essay placed into nomination is encouraged, but a PDF is acceptable. If a copy is not submitted, a complete citation of the work must be included with the application. Authors of web-based or online resources should provide the URL for the full-text or submit a PDF. Web-based resources require free access to the website and instructions regarding its use, along with a statement regarding plans for maintaining ongoing access

Closing Date: 15 November

Funding: Individuals

Contributor: Endowed by Justin G. Schiller

Submissions may take the form of a published book or article, a master's thesis or doctoral dissertation defended and approved, or research results distributed in another manner, such as the website or CD-ROM. Submissions must have been published or, if a dissertation or thesis, approved the year of the deadline or in the three previous calendar years. If a publication has an incorrect nominal date disqualifying it for submission but an actual date of publication within the prize period, it may be nominated with a letter by the publisher or editor testifying to the actual date of publication. Unpublished dissertations and theses must be accompanied by a letter from the director attesting their approval. Scholars are eligible to apply for the Prize without regard to membership in the Bibliographical Society of America or any other society, and without regard to citizenship or academic affiliation, degree, or rank. The Prize will be awarded to the author of a particular work of scholarship without regard to the author's prolonged or repeated contributions to the field. Applications are encouraged from young or junior scholars who have not as yet published extensively. Applicants may nominate themselves or be nominated by others

Email: grants@britishecologicalsociety.org

Website: www.britishecologicalsociety.org

As a learned society and registered charity, the British Ecological Society (BES) is an independent organization receiving little outside funding. The aims of the Society are to promote the science of ecology through research, publications and conferences and to use the findings of such research to educate the public and to influence policy decisions that involve ecological matters. The BES is an active and thriving organization with something to offer anyone with an interest in ecology. Academic journals, teaching resources, meetings for scientists and policy makers, career advice and grants for ecologists are just a few of the societies areas of activity.

Outreach Grant

Subjects: Ecology. The Society defines ecology as the scientific study of the distribution, abundance and dynamics of organisms, their interactions with other organisms and their physical environment. It is therefore essential that applications promote and engage the public with the science of ecology. Grants will not be awarded for purely nature conservation purposes or any activity that does not promote the science of ecology

Purpose: To promote ecological science to a wide audience

Eligibility: Awards are open to individuals and organizations to organize public engagement events in ecology. This includes, but is not limited to, members of the BES, researchers, schools, museums, libraries and community groups. Applications will not be considered for: staff salaries; Purchase of apparatus, including computers, cameras etc., unless these are integral to the application. Applications from museums and schools are welcome but projects must involve significant outreach beyond schools. Projects aimed solely at delivering curriculum to school children will not be considered

Type: Project grant

Value: Up to £1,000

Frequency: Annual

Country of Study: Any country

No. of awards offered: 113

Application Procedure: Applicants must complete an online application form through the BES website at www.britishecologicalsociety.org/grants-awards/outreach-grants

Closing Date: 10 March and 15 September

Contributor: British Ecological Society

No. of awards given last year: 11

No. of applicants last year: 113

Additional Information: Published papers and reports to other organizations should include an acknowledgment of the support from the BES. Other conditions may apply

The British Heart Foundation (BHF) exists to encourage research into the causes, diagnosis, prevention and advances of cardiovascular disease, to inform doctors throughout the country of advances in the diagnosis, cure and treatment of heart diseases, and to improve facilities for the treatment of heart patients where the National Health Service is unable to help.

British Heart Foundation-Daphne Jackson Fellowships

Subjects: The Daphne Jackson Trust offers support during the application process, and the fellowship includes mentoring and retraining, giving awardees the confidence and skills they need to successfully return to a research career

Purpose: To provide an opportunity for basic scientists to return to cardiovascular research at an established research institution in the United Kingdom after a career break of two years or more

Eligibility: Your eligibility and suitability are initially assessed using the information submitted to us in the CV and personal statement forms. If you do fit our eligibility criteria, one of our Fellowship Advisors will arrange an informal telephone interview with you to talk through your CV, your career break, your desire to retrain, your field of interest and assess your future employment prospects

Type: Fellowship

Length of Study: Up to three years

Frequency: Annual

Country of Study: Any country

Application Procedure: 1. Applicants will need to approach and agree a plan of work with a potential academic sponsor as part of the application process. We are particularly interested in supporting applicants working in interdisciplinary research, but applicants working in single disciplines will be considered equally. 2. The Elizabeth Blackwell Institute will half-sponsor the Fellowship and the remaining funding will be secured by the Daphne Jackson Trust from an additional sponsor

Closing Date: 18 February

Clinical Study Grants

Purpose: To provide an opportunity for talented NHS staff to undertake dedicated PAs in research in a recognised United Kingdom centre of excellence in cardiovascular medicine

Eligibility: 1. The principal investigator will be a senior researcher working in an established research institution in the United Kingdom. She/he must have a strong track record of grant support, usually from us, and an internationally recognised research profile. 2. Any multicentre interventional clinical trial, while remaining under the scientific control of the principal investigator, should usually be managed by a United Kingdom CRC-registered Clinical Trials Unit (CTU) and should usually include a member of the CTU as a co-applicant or principal investigator unless there are clearly justified reasons for not doing so

Level of Study: Graduate

Type: Fellowship or Grant

Length of Study: Usually up to 5 years, with regular progress reports, initially annual reports

Frequency: Every 5 years

Country of Study: Any country

Application Procedure: Once a preliminary application is approved you should submit a full application: 1. Read the information in How to apply. 2. Read about the SoECAT form. 3. Also read: Costing a clinical study. Excess treatment costs. Costing a clinical research imaging scan.

Clinical Trials Units. Clinical Study Guidelines. Patient and public involvement. 4. Log onto the online application form. Application has to be completed through online procedurals

New Horizon Grants

Purpose: To encourage scientists from outside traditional cardiovascular biology to engage in cardiovascular research and bring novel expertise to the field, and to develop new technologies, models or methodologies

Eligibility: 1. The principal investigator will be a senior researcher working in an established research institution in the United Kingdom. He/she must have a strong track record of project grant support and an internationally recognised research profile. 2. The principal investigator or co-applicant (s) should include researcher(s) with a strong track record of relevant cardiovascular research. 3. The principal investigator or co-applicant(s) should include researcher(s) from outside traditional cardiovascular biology, who do not have extensive existing collaborations with cardiovascular researchers

Type: Grant

Value: Up to £300,000 and up to three years

Frequency: Every 3 years

Country of Study: Any country

Application Procedure: Kindly check the website for further information. www.bhf.org.uk/for-professionals/information-for-researchers/what-we-fund/new-horizon-grants

Funding: Private

Additional Information: You will be asked to attach a single PDF document to your online application form containing the following information: 1. For resubmissions, include an unedited copy of the original feedback followed by a detailed response, limited to 3 sides of A4, explaining how the revised application has changed from the original submission. 2. Abstract of the proposed investigation in 200 words or less. 3. Background to the project and pilot data. 4. Original hypothesis. 5. Experimental details and design of proposed investigation. 6. Power calculations. 7. Expected value of results. 8. List of references relevant to the proposed project

Non-Clinical PhD Studentships

Purpose: To allow talented students to complete a PhD in cardiovascular science in an established research institution in the United Kingdom

Eligibility: The application must be made by an established investigator who will be the supervisor and may be for a named or unnamed student. The primary supervisor must devote a minimum of 10% of their time to supervising the student and a second supervisor should also be included. Extra scrutiny will be given to applications from institutions in receipt of a BHF Research Excellence award or from supervisors named on a BHF 4 year PhD Scheme. These applications will require additional justification and should be for named students only. The BHF does not provide 'top-up' funding for existing PhD studentships supported by other grant giving organisations, which are incompletely funded

Level of Study: Graduate, Postgraduate

Type: Studentship and scholarship

Frequency: Every 3 years

Country of Study: Any country

Research Training Fellowships for Nurses and Allied Health Professionals

Purpose: To provide a foundation in research training in an established research institution in the United Kingdom for nurses and allied health professionals, leading to the award of a PhD

Eligibility: The named student should usually hold a good quality Masters degree or equivalent. 1. Students who have started a PhD (or equivalent) may be eligible to apply for a Research Training Fellowship, but the application must be received within 6 months of having registered for their PhD. In these circumstances, the proposed start date for the Research Training Fellowship should also be no more than 12 months (or full-time equivalent) from the date of registration for the degree. 2. If the fellowship is taken up on a full-time research basis, we recognise that part of the time (ideally no more than 20% though sometimes more if it can be argued that the research directly involves their patients) may be spent on patient care. 3. The fellowship may be taken up on a part-time employment basis, where appropriate, following discussion and agreement with us and the employing institution. For more information, read about our Flexible working policies

Level of Study: Postgraduate

Type: Fellowship

Value: It includes salary, tuition fee at standard home students rate(set by research institute)

Country of Study: Any country

Contact: Dr Chryssanthi Papadopoulou, Assistant Director

The British School at Athens promotes research into the archaeology, architecture, art, history, language, literature, religion and topography of Greece in ancient, medieval and modern times. It consists of the Library, Fitch Laboratory for Archaeological Science, Archive, Museum, hostel and a second base at Knossos for research and fieldwork.

Hector and Elizabeth Catling Bursary

Subjects: Greek studies including the archaeology, art, history, language, literature, religion, ethnography, anthropology or geography of any period and all branches of archaeological science

Purpose: To assist travel, maintenance costs and for the purchase of scientific equipments. Its aim is to encourage excellence in archaeological drawing, including the preparation of finished drawings for publication

Eligibility: Open to researchers of British, Irish or Commonwealth nationality

Level of Study: Doctorate, Postdoctorate, Postgraduate, Research

Type: Bursary

Value: £500 per bursary to assist with travel and maintenance costs incurred in fieldwork, to pay for the use of scientific or other specialized equipment in or outside the laboratory in Greece or elsewhere and to buy necessary supplies

Frequency: Annual

Study Establishment: The British School at Athens

Country of Study: Any country

Application Procedure: 1. Applicants must submit a curriculum vitae and state concisely the nature of the intended work, a breakdown of budget, the amount requested from the Fund and how this will be spent. 2. Applications should include two sealed letters of reference. Bursary holders must submit a short report to the Committee upon completion of the project

Closing Date: 19 April

Funding: Private

Additional Information: The bursary is not intended for publication costs, and cannot be awarded to an excavation or field survey team

The Elizabeth Catling Memorial Fund for Archaeological Draughtsmanship

Purpose: To encourage excellence in archaeological drawing, including the preparation of finished drawings for publication. It is hoped that awards will help individuals to improve their standards of draughtsmanship and also enable the preparation of a larger number of drawings, of higher quality, than might otherwise have been possible

Eligibility: Individual applicants must show that drawings are an essential part of their research. Furthermore, although not a precondition, it is hoped that they may be draughtsmen themselves. Applications from project directors, who may also apply during the course of a field campaign, are limited to unexpected expenses that are not provided for in the project's budget, such as extra maintenance costs to enable a draughtsman to draw unforeseen material and finds

Level of Study: Predoctorate

Type: Funding support

Value: £200

Frequency: Annual

Application Procedure: Candidates should submit letters of application to the School's London office by post in four copies or by email. Letters should not be longer than two pages and should include a statement of the purposes of the application and a budget and timetable for the proposed work, together with the name and address of a referee whom the awarding panel(s) may consult. Applications may be made for but are not limited to, grants towards the maintenance costs of longer stays at museums and other study centres so as to achieve work that would not otherwise have been attempted. Recipients of awards must have been admitted as Students of the School for the appropriate Session before receiving their grants, and must submit a short report on the use of the grant to the London office

Additional Information: The Fund does not support printing expenses, or site drawings such as plans and sections, or computer graphics
