

THE TWELFTH WORLD CONGRESS OF THE INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC ASSOCIATION

August 23-27, 1999

Buenos Aires, Argentina

The Twelfth World Congress of the International Economic Association will take place in Buenos Aires, on August 1999, hosted by the Asociación Argentina de Economía Política, who is in charge of the organisation. The five day technical programme includes plenary sessions, invited sessions and presentation of contributed papers. The scientific preparation of the Congress is under the responsibility of the IEA President, Professor Jacques Drèze, who is assisted by an international Programme Committee. The Congress will be dedicated to the memory of Michael Bruno, former president of the IEA. Parallel sessions will be held with contributed papers in all areas of Economics, including those of particular interest to Latin America. Invited lectures will cover two topics: "Inequality in the World Today", with a programme arranged by Professor Richard Freeman (Harvard, USA), and "The Current State of Macroeconomics", arranged by Professor Jacques Drèze (CORE, Belgium)

Call for Papers

Submissions of papers related to any economic area are welcomed. The Programme Committee will screen the contributed papers. Authors will be notified by April 15. Accepted papers will be included in a CD-ROM. At the last stage of the selection procedure, the letter of acceptance for authors will include instructions to provide an electronic copy of the paper. Three volumes of proceedings on macroeconomics, inequality and Latin American economic issues will be published. Those wishing to participate with a paper should send three copies of the paper (in English) by February 14, 1999, to:
