Editorial Note

Michael O'Loughlin^{a,*} and Angie Voela^b

^aAdelphi University, 15 Laurel Drive, New Hyde Park, NY 11040, USA.

E-mail: michaeloloughlinphd@gmail.com

^bUniversity of East London, London, UK.

E-mail: a.voela@uel.ac.uk

*Corresponding author.

Psychoanalysis, Culture & Society (2021) 26, 1–2. <https://doi.org/10.1057/s41282-021-00208-6>; published online 19 March 2021

We are pleased to announce that, starting in January 2022, Psychoanalysis, Culture & Society will be added to the Psychoanalytic Electronic Publishing [PEP] Archive. PEP is the digital archive for all major works of psychoanalysis. In addition to more than 60 psychoanalytic journals, it offers access to Freud's Collected Works, glossaries and dictionaries of psychoanalysis, videos, and a collection of classic books in psychoanalysis. Details of the holdings in the PEP Archive may be found here: <http://support.pep-web.info/about-the-pep-archive/>. Launching in Summer 2021, PEP will have a new and improved PEP-Web platform for desktop, tablet, and mobile. Other features include Smart Search, Personalization, Refined Searches, and more. Users will be able to save favorites to lists, as well as to keep a list of items to read later. There will be a multilingual interface, using Google Translate. Our partnership with PEP, which resulted from protracted negotiations between PEP, Palgrave, and our Association, promises to increase the reach of our journal to the many scholars who rely exclusively on PEP as their reference source. We are working with PEP and our partner Palgrave to resolve rights issues so that as many back issues of Psychoanalysis, Culture & Society as possible may be entered into the PEP Archive.

Declarations

Conflict of interest There is no conflict of interest.

Publisher's Note Springer Nature remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.