CHRONICLE

Prize of the Government of the Russian Federation

DOI: 10.1134/S1061934811100121

The 2010 Prize of the Government of the Russian Federation in science and engineering was awarded for the development and introduction of biochemical methods of analysis. The precise wording of the government decree is “for the development of biotechnological methods of analysis for solving socially important problems of neonatal screening and control of drug usage and safety of foodstuffs and their introduction into domestic practice.” The prize was awarded to V.O. Popov, director, head of the laboratory at the Bach Institute of Biochemistry of the Russian Academy of Sciences, and supervisor of the work;

N.A. Byzova, senior researcher; B.B. Dzantiev and A.P. Savitskii, deputy directors on scientific work, laboratory heads; A.V. Zherdev, senior researcher; A.V. Savitskii, researcher; E.G. Sadykhov ogly, deputy director of the same institute; L.A. Zhuchenko, head of department of the State Enterprise of Public Health Services of the Moscow Regional Scientific Research Institute of Obstetrics and Gynecology; A.A. Khodunova, head of department of the Ministry of Health and Social Development of the Russian Federation; and A.D. Baikov (posthumously).