Takao Someya

The articles in this theme issue of MRS Bulletin report some of the latest advances in materials science for soft robotics. Our hope is that innovative materials will contribute to a safer and smoother interaction between humans and machines and, as a result, improve our quality of life.

© The Author(s) 2021