Editorial

This issue of Behavior Research Methods, Instruments, & Computers is dedicated to the 19th Annual Meeting of the Society for Computers in Psychology, held in Atlanta, November 16, 1989. The one-day conference included 10 paper sessions, the presidential address, an invited address, a MEL workshop, two users' group meetings, and several software package demonstrations.

David Eckerman, University of North Carolina, is President of the Society for 1989-1990. The outgoing President is Cynthia McDaniel, Northern Kentucky University, and the President-Elect is Jonathan Vaughn, Hamilton College. Paula Goolkasian, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, is Secretary-Treasurer.

Newly elected members of the Steering Committee are: Darrell Butler, Ball State University; Nancy Duncan, Hampton University; and Walter Schneider, University of Illinois. Other members of the Steering Committee are: Doris Aaronson, New York University; Michael Levy, University of Florida; Cynthia Null, College of William and Mary; Joseph Young, National Science Foundation; and Russell Church, Brown University.

Several excellent student papers were submitted last year. R. A. Rensink, University of British Columbia, received the Student Award for his paper, "Toolbox-Based Routines for Macintosh Timing and Display." The paper is printed in Session III in this issue.

The Program Chairperson for the 1989 meeting was Darrell L. Butler. The Program Committee consisted of Drake Bradley, Robert Burke, N. John Castellan, Jr., Douglas Eamon, David Eckerman, Paula Goolkasian, Richard Lehman, C. Michael Levy, Cynthia McDaniel, and John Mueller.

The 20th Annual Meeting of the Society for Computers in Psychology will convene in New Orleans on November 15, 1990. Individuals interested in suggesting topics or in submitting papers for the 1990 meetings are urged to contact Sarah Ransdell (Department of Psychology, University of Maine, Orono, ME 04469) or C. Michael Levy (Department of Psychology, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL 32611).

Anyone interested in joining the Society for Computers in Psychology or in participating in the meetings may obtain information by writing to Paula Goolkasian (Department of Psychology, University of North Carolina at Charlotte, Charlotte, NC 28223). Membership in the group and participation at the meetings are not limited to psychologists, and students, too, are invited to become members and to actively participate in the meetings.

Copies of the Proceedings since 1985 may be obtained from the Publications Office, The Psychonomic Society, Inc., 1710 Fortview Road, Austin, TX 78704. Copies of the Proceedings from 1972 through 1985 may be obtained from University Microfilms and KTO microform.

Joseph B. Sidowski
Guest Editor