In Table 2, the Beta estimate for Trait social anxiety predicting Negative affect should be changed from 5.881 to 0.023, and it's now nonsignificant (i.e., no double asterisks). Though a more minor correction, the Beta estimate for State social anxiety predicting Depression should be changed from .200 to .198.

On the tenth page of the article, under Results, the second sentence should also be changed to: "Trait social anxiety did not significantly predict negative affect ($p = .594$), positive affect ($p = .622$), or depression ($p = .167$) over time."
