

Index

- Academic achievement
 - family structure and, 162
- Accentuation and illusory correlation effects, 484
- Acquiescence
 - control and, 427
- ACT: see Affect control theory
- Acting out deviant motives, 462–467
- Active minorities, 492–493
- Activism, 510
- Adaptively prepared learning
 - evolutionary social psychology, 111–112
- Adolescence
 - delinquency, 457–459
 - development and socialization, 157–182
 - family, 161–163
 - future research, directions, 176–177
 - interpretive, 160–161
 - life course, 157–158
 - peer groups, 168–176
 - schools, 163–168
 - social and cultural reproduction, 158–159
 - subcultural approaches, 159–160
 - theoretical perspectives, 157–161
 - rebellion, 457
- Adulthood
 - development and socialization, 183–202
 - conceptualization of socialization, 184–189
 - concurrent life experiences, 194–196
 - expanding conceptualizations of, 189–198
 - historical variability, 197–198
 - individual biographies of socializees, 190–196
 - life course trajectories, 190–191
 - new directions for research, 198–200
 - occupational socialization, 188–189
 - prior life experiences, 191–192
 - temporal orientations, 192–194, 196–197
- Affect
 - definition, 310
 - intergroup relations, 487
 - social exchange and, 63–64
- Affect control theory, 218–221
 - affective deflection, 220
- Affect control theory (cont.)
 - affective reaction, 219
 - cultural sentiments, 219
 - transient feelings, 219
- Affective deflection, 220
- Affective reaction, 219
- African Americans
 - gender, children’s understanding of, 145
 - high school, 167
 - interpersonal relationships, 354–355
 - language and social stratification, 249
 - middle schools, 164–165
 - peer groups, adolescents, 168–169
 - language activities and discourse processes, adolescents, 171
 - race, children’s understanding of, 146
 - school, socialization and, 139
 - social class, children’s understanding of, 146
- Age
 - control, sense of, 432–433
 - psychological distress and, 422–423
- Agency: see Human agency
- Anger, 414–415
- Anxiety, 412–414
 - age and, 422
 - indexes of, 413*t*
 - intergroup anxiety, 493
- Attachment style
 - interpersonal relationships, 349–350
- Attitudes, 284, 288–295
 - behavior and, 295–300
 - attitudinal qualities, 295–296
 - methodological factors, 297–298
 - personality, 296, 298
 - situational variables, 296–297, 298
 - value qualities, 298–300
 - belief-based model, 289–290
 - bidimensional model, 290
 - cultural differences, 294–295
 - cultural estrangement, 300–301
 - direct versus indirect experience, 294
 - family transmission of, 292–293

- Attitudes (cont.)
 formation of, 292–295
 functions, 291–292
 future research directions, 301–303
 intragroup attitudes, 487–488
 mass media and, 293–294
 single dimension model, 290 structure, 288–291
 three-component model, 289–290 value-expressive function, 291–292
- Attraction, 55–56, 339–362
 concept of, 340–341
 determinants of, 341–342
 existing relationships, 345–346 “fatal attractions,” 345–346 individual differences in predictors, 343–344 Internet, 346
 mate selection research, 346–347
 nonlinearity in effects of predictors, 345 physical attraction, components of, 344–345 relational history as predictor, 344
 research on, 343–346
 future directions, 355–357
 mate selection research, 346–347
 multivariate approaches, research, 343 self-esteem and, 344
 social context, 341
 theories on, 342–343
- Attribution, 267
- Australia
 peer groups, adolescents, 169
 Tiwi, 113
- Authorization
 small groups, 371
- Behavior, prediction of, 295–300
- Behavioral interchange patterns
 performance expectation and, 39–40
- Behavioral models
 crowds and social movements, 508–509
- Biological theories
 emotions and sentiments, 313
 etic research, 536–539
 SSP research, 96–97
- Birmingham Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies (CCCS), 159
- Blumer, Herbert, 13–17, 21
- Britain
 high school, 165
 peer groups, adolescents
 magazines, 173
 television, 173
 school children, socialization, 139
 social class, children’s understanding of, 147
 “Busing” children, 493
- Bystander response research, 262
- Calvinism, 314
- Career identities, 177
- Categorization, 244
- Causal inferences, 267
- CCCS: see Birmingham Centre for Contemporary Cultural Studies (CCCS)
- Center for Epidemiologic Studies’ Depression Scale (CES-D), 412
- Center for the Study of Group Dynamics, 366
- Childhood
 children’s lives, research methods, 131–136
 ethical issues, 135–136
 ethnography, 131–132
 interviewing, individual and group, 132–133
 nontraditional methods, 134–135
 PAR (parents as research) strategy, 135, 136
 “research conversation,” 132–133
 surveys and demographic research, 133–134
 children’s rights, 149–150
 development and socialization, 125–155
 cognitive developmental theory, 126
 contexts of socialization, 136–140
 convergence in theories, 130–131
 family, children in, 136–138
 human development, psychological theories, 126–127
 interactionist approaches, 129
 interpretive approaches, 129–130
 larger structures, interactions with, 147–150
 macrolevel approaches, 128–129
 peer cultures, 140–147
 research methods, 131–136
 school, children in, 138–140
 sociological theories of socialization, 127–130
 systems theories, 126–127
 future of, 150–151
 larger structures, interactions with, 147–150
 poverty, children in, 149
 sociology of, 127–130
 interactionist approaches, 129
 interpretive approaches, 129–130
 macrolevel approaches, 128–129
 symbolic and material culture, interactions with, 148 work and economy, interactions with, 148–149
- Children: see also Childhood bodies, play routine and, 141–142
- Children’s rights, 149–150
- Chinese Americans
 discrimination, 488–489
- Chinese Culture Connection, 540
 Confucian Work Dynamism, 541
- Chinese thought self, view of, 534–535
- Chronic illness
 socialization and, 195–196
 “Class consciousness,” 226
- Cliques, 392

- Coalitions
 - formation, 68–69
 - three-person groups, 376
- Cognition: see also Social cognition
 - cognitive developmental theory, 126
 - emotions and sentiments, 320–321
 - cognitive errors, 269
 - cognitive inferences, 266
 - cognitive processes, 264–266
 - emotions and sentiments, 313–314; 320–321
 - social structure and emotion, theoretical links, 412*f*
- Cognitivism, 241
- Cohesion
 - small groups, 374–376
- Collective action, 491–493; see also Social movements
 - cost/benefit “threshold,” 512
 - social change and, 491–492
 - social exchange and, 67–69
- “Collective conscience,” 226
- Collective identity, 226–228
 - crowds and social movements, 519–521
- Collectivism, 544–545
- Collectivities, groups and, 393–398
 - foundational theoretical concepts, 393–395
 - friendship, 395–396
 - Internet networks, 397–398
 - network effects model, 396
 - social influence, 396
 - social support, 397
 - structural position, 394–395
 - subareas of empirical work, 395–398
 - transitivity, 393–394
 - weak ties, 395
- Comfort with the self, 213–214
- Commitment
 - crowds and social movements, 518–519
 - exchange relations, 64–66
 - identity and, 218
 - power and, 64–65
 - uncertainty and, 65–66
- Components principle, SSP research: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Conceptualizations
 - symbolic interactionism, 6–8
- Concurrent life experiences
 - adult life course, 194–196
- Conditional relevance, 246
- “Conflict” gangs, 466
- Conflict theory, 454–455
 - realistic conflict theory, 482
- Confucianism
 - self, view of, 534
- Conservative political ideologies, 295
- Constructionist approach
 - crowds and social movements, 515–521
 - emotion, 517–519
- Constructionist approach (cont.)
 - crowds and social movements (cont.)
 - identity, 519–521
 - symbolization, 516–517
- Contagion
 - crowds and social movements, 508–509
- Control, sense of, 423–436
 - acquiescence and, 427
 - age and, 432–433
 - children, 431–432
 - consequences of, 433–436
 - defense and, 427
 - defining, 423–426
 - diminishing returns, 434–435
 - domestic work, 430
 - education and, 428
 - employment and, 428–429, 430
 - ethnicity and, 429–430
 - family, 430
 - gender differences, 430, 432
 - good and bad outcomes, 434
 - helplessness, 426
 - heuristics in psychology, 426–427
 - locus of control, 424
 - marriage, 431–432
 - measuring, 423–426
 - objective power, 427–428
 - perceived control, 427–428
 - personal control, generally, 424–425
 - powerlessness, versus, 425*t*
 - race differences, 429–430
 - self-efficacy, 425
 - social conditions generating, 427–433
 - social support and, 435
 - socioeconomic status, 428–429
 - universal and personal control, 435–436
 - work
 - family interactions, 431
 - paid and unpaid, 430
- Conventional norms, deviance from, 457–460
- Conversation
 - analysis, 245–248
 - repair, organization of, 247–248
 - sequences, organization of, 246–247
 - social structure and talk, 250
 - turn-taking organization, 247
 - social cognition and, 275
- Cooley, Charles Horton, 13–15, 315, 364
- Criminal behavior, 457–459, 461, 466
- Critical social psychology, 262
- Cross-cultural perspectives
 - social cognition, 276–277
 - social psychology, 529–553
 - confirmatory factor analysis technique, 545–546
 - cross-cultural, defined, 531
 - cross-cultural challenge, 547–548
 - culture, defined, 529–531

- Cross-cultural perspectives (cont.)
 social psychology (cont.)
 etic versus emic approaches, 532–545
 evolutionary challenge, 547 identity, politics of, 548
 inter-group conflicts, understanding, 548 levels of analysis problem, 546 methodological issues, 545–547 problems, research, 547
 progress, research, 547
 reason for approach, 531–532
- Crowds, 491, 503–527
 behavioral models, 508–509
 constructionist approach, 515–521
 emotion, 517–519
 identity, 519–521
 symbolization, 516–517
 contagion, 508–509
 dispositional approach, 505–507
 learning models, 507–511
 rational choice approach, 511–515
 socialization model, 509–511
 theoretical perspectives and cornerstone concepts, 522*t*
- Cultural estrangement
 values and attitudes, 300–301
- Cultural sentiments, 219
- Culture: see also Cross-cultural perspectives attitudes, cultural differences, 294–295 construction of, 112–114 defined, 529–531
 emotions and sentiments and, 316–318
 evolutionary social psychology, 112–114
 ideologies, cultural differences, 294–295 social exchange theory, cultural differences, 71–72 structure, distinction in SSP research, 81–83 transmission of, 185
 values, cultural differences, 294–295
- Darwin, Charles, 312–313, 537; see also Evolutionary social psychology
- Defense
 control and, 427
- Delinquency, 461
 self-justification and delinquent acts, 469
- Demographic research
 children's lives, research methods, 133–134
- Dependence
 power and, 57
- Depression, 212–214
 age and, 422
 indexes of, 413*t*
- Deprivation frustration and, 505
- Deprivation-satiation, 55
- Deterministic views of society, 128
- Deterrence theory, 463–464, 467
- Development and socialization
 adolescence, 157–182
 adult life course, 183–202
 theoretical development of socialization, 185–189
 childhood, 125–155
- Deviance, 451–478
 acting out deviant motives, 462–467
 conflict theory, 465
 counteracting motives, 463–466
 deterrence theory, 463–464, 467
 opportunities, 466–467
 social bonding, 464
 social control, 464
 social disorganization, 465, 467
 conflict theory, 454–455
 consequences of, 470–474
 deterrence, 472
 escalation of deviance, 472
 formal and informal social responses, 471–473
 group solidarity, affirming, 472–473
 moral standards, affirming, 472–473
 social change, 473–474
 social functioning, 473
 criminal behavior, 457–459, 461, 466
 defining, 453–456
 consensus perspective, 454 labeling perspective, 454, 467–468
 delinquency, 457–459, 461
 self-justification and delinquent acts, 469
 deterrence theory, 463–464, 467, 472
 differential association theory, 460–461
 (dis)continuation of deviant behavior, 467–470 conventional values, decreased attraction to, 470
 deterrence theory, 467
 labeling perspective and, 467–468 limited adverse consequences, 470
 need satisfaction and deviant acts, 468–469
 opportunities for deviance, 470
 positive reinforcement of behavior, 468–469
 self-justification and delinquent acts, 469
 weakening of social controls, 469–470 escalation of, 472
 formal social responses, 471–473
 future research, 474–476
 group solidarity, affirming, 472–473
 informal social responses, 471–473 motivated deviance, 452 motivation to deviate, 456–462
 conventional norms, deviance from, 457–460
 deviant norms, motivation to conform to, 460–462
 nature of, 452–453
 need satisfaction and deviant acts, 468–469
 opportunities for, 470
 positive reinforcement of behavior, 468–469
 self-justification and delinquent acts, 469
 social control, 464, 471
 weakening of, 469–470

- Deviance (cont.)
 social responses, 471–473
 unmotivated deviance, 453
- Dewey, John, 10–11
- Dialectics
 social structure and, 250
- Discursive psychology, 242–245
 courses of action, accounts of, 243
 identity, accounts of, 244–245
 mind, accounts of, 243–244
- Differential association theory, 460–461
- Diminishing returns
 control, sense of, 434–435
- Disadvantage
 intergroup relations, 490
 social change and, 491–492
 mistrust and
 individual disadvantage, 439–440
 neighborhood disadvantage, 438
- Discourse analysis, 239–241
- Discourse processes
 peer groups, adolescents, 171–174
- Discrimination, 488–490
- Disorder
 mistrust and, 437–438
- Dispositional perspective
 crowds and social movements, 505–507
- Distress: see Psychological distress
- Distributive justice, 60–61
- Diversity
 intergroup relations, 494–495
- Double standards theory, 40–41
- Durkheim, Emile, 261, 275, 315, 472, 538
- Dyadic exchange, 54–55
- Dyadic relationships, 398–403
 barriers, 400
 beginnings, 398–399
 close dyads and change in network composition, 399
 dyadic withdrawal, 399
 influence of dyads on social networks, 402
 information, 400–401
 opportunities, 400
 reactions, 401–402
 social roles, 399
 well-being and stability, 399–402
- Economic sociology, 70–73
- Education
 control and, 428
- Embarrassment, 326–327
- Embeddedness, 70
- Emic approaches to cross-cultural perspectives: see Etic versus Emic approaches to cross-cultural perspectives
- Emotional competence, 312
- Emotional intelligence, 312
- Emotions: see also Emotions and sentiments
 crowds and social movements, 517–519
 relational cohesion theory, 61, 62–63
 small groups, status structures, 378–380
 social exchange and, 61–64
 affect, 63–64
 relational cohesion theory, 61, 62–63
 social structure and cognition, theoretical links, 412*f*
- Emotions and sentiments, 309–335
 affect, 310
 definitions, 309–310
 embarrassment, 326–327
 emotion script, 321
 empathic distress, 320
 empathic role-taking, 319–320
 empathy, 327
 exchange theory, 330
 expectations states theory, 330–331
 small groups, 379
 guilt, 324–325
 identity theory and, 329
 primary appraisal phase, 313
 primary emotions, 310–311
 reason, emotion and, 311–312
 reflexive role-taking, 319–320
 research, 328–331
 role-taking, 319–320
 secondary appraisal phase, 313–314
 secondary emotions, 310–311 self and, 322–328
 self-conscious, 322–328
 shame, 325–326
 social emotions, 322–328
 socialization of, 320–322
 cognitive-developmental approach, 320–321
 interactionist perspective, 321–322
 society and, 322–328
 sociological theories
 classical theorists, 314–315 contemporary views, 315–320 cultural perspective, 316–318
 mid-20th century, 315
 social structure approach, 315–316
 symbolic interactionist framework, 318–320
 sympathy, 327–328
 theories on, 312–320
 biological theories, 313
 cognitive theory, 313–314 developing theory, 328–331
 evolutionary theory, 312–313
 nonsociological theories, 312–314
 psychoanalytic theory, 313
 sociological theories, 314–320
- Emotion script, 321
- Empathic role-taking
 emotions and sentiments, 319–320
- Empathy, 327

- Employment
 control and, 428–429, 430
 psychological distress and, 420, 422–423
- Endorsement
 small groups, 371
- Enemies, 404–405
- Environment
 symbolic interactionism, 4
- E-state structuralism, 390
- Ethical issues
 children's lives, research, 135–136
- Ethnicity
 control, sense of, 429–430
 interpersonal relationships, 354–355
 social cognition and, 259
- Ethnography
 children's lives, research methods, 131–132
- Ethnomethodology conversation analysis and, 245–248
 repair, organization of, 247–248
 sequences, organization of, 246–247
 turn-taking organization, 247
- Etic versus emic approaches to cross-cultural perspectives, 532–545
- emic research, 533–535
- etic research, 536–545
 biological and social, 536–539 culture or nation as context, 542–545
 universal values, 539–542
- indigenous concepts, 535
- Evaluative-cognitive consistency, 296
- Evolutionary social psychology, 103–122
 adaptively prepared learning, 111–112
 concerns and misconceptions, 116 culture, construction of, 112–114
 etic research, 536
 general principles, 104–111
 inclusive fitness, 105–107
 intra- and intergroup relationships, 114–115
 kin groups, 105–107
 learning, 111–112
 life history strategies, 107–108
 naturalistic fallacy, 117
 natural selection, 104–105
 non-kin groups, 105–107
 parental investment, 108–109
 reductionism, 116–117
 sex differences, 108–109
 mate preferences, 118
 sexual selection, 110–111
- Evolutionary theory
 emotions and sentiments, 312–313
- Exchange research, small groups, 377
- Exchange theory: see Social exchange theory
- Expectations states theory, 29–51, 262
 collective orientation, 31
 double standards theory, 40–41
- Expectations states theory (cont.)
 emotions and sentiments, 330–331
 small groups, 379
 expanding scope conditions, 46–48
 first order expectations, 41–42
 formation of, 31f goal-oriented groups, 30
 history, 30
 intelligence tests, 46
 legitimacy, 42–44
 overview, 31–40
 performance expectation, 31
 aggregation assumption, 33–34
 attenuation effect, 34
 behavioral interchange patterns, 39–40
 burden of proof, 33
 empirical evidence, 36–38
 feedback and, 37
 graph theoretic representation, 34–36
 inconsistency effect, 34
 rewards, 38–39
 status characteristics and, 32–38
 status characteristics theory, 33–34
 theory of status generalization, 33
 personal response style, 45
 rewards and performance expectation, 38–39
 second order expectations, 41–42
 status characteristics and performance expectation, 32–38
 aggregation assumption, 33–34
 attenuation effect, 34
 burden of proof, 33
 empirical evidence, 36–38
 feedback and, 37
 gender, 32, 38
 graph theoretic representation, 34–36
 inconsistency effect, 34
 status characteristics theory, 33–34
 theory of status generalization, 33
 status construction theory, 44–46
 status hierarchies, 31f
 task orientation, 31
 theoretical advances, 40–48
- Expected Value Theory, 57
- The Expression of the Emotions in Animals and Man* (Darwin), 537
- Extracurricular activities
 high school, 166
- Fairness
 exchange and, 59–61
- Family
 academic achievement and family structure, 162 adolescence, socialization, 161–163
 adult-child interaction, 137
 attitudes, transmission of, 292–293
 control, sense of, 430

- Family (cont.)
 ideologies, transmission of, 292–293
 socialization and, 136–138, 187
 values, transmission of, 292–293
 work, interactions, 431
- Fantasy play, children, 142–143
- Fathers and sons, interactions, 161
- Fear responses, 112
- Feedback
 identity control theory, 222
- Field theoretic approach
 small groups, 367
- First order expectations, 41–42
- Frame analysis, 241–242
- Framing perspective crowds and social movements, 517
- France
 peer groups, adolescents, 173
- Freud, Sigmund, 313
- Friendships
 children, peer cultures, 140–141
 collectivities, groups and, 395–396
- Frustration, 505–506 deprivation and, 505
- Gangs, 466
- Gender
 children's understandings of, 133, 143–145
 expectations states theory, 32, 38
 leadership, small groups, 373–374
- Gender differences
 control, sense of, 430, 432
 psychological distress, 416–419
- Generalization model, 188
- Genetic reductionism, 116–117
- Genovese, Kitty, 262
- Genre stories, 317
- Ghetto life
 SSP research, 83
- Globalization, 531–532
- Goal relations, 481–482
- Goffman, Erving, 210–212, 241–242
- Graph-Theoretical Power Index (GPI), 57–58
- Group-level characteristics, identities based on: see
 Identity
- Group therapy: see Small groups
- Guilt, 324–325
- Gurin index, 412
- Harmony, 493–495
- Harvard School, 365–366
- Health and well-being, children's understanding of, 147
- Helplessness, 426
- Heterosexuality
 peer groups, adolescents, 175
- Heuristics, 266–267
 control, sense of, 426–427
- High school
 social worlds, 165–168
- Hindu thought
 Self/Not Self, 534
- How to Do Things with Words* (Austin), 236
- Hughes, Everett, 17–18, 21
- Huli (Papua New Guinea)
 fantasy play, children, 142–143
- Human agency, 83–86
 life course, 84
 micro-macro effects, 85–86
 selection effects, 84
- Human development, psychological theories, 126–127
 cognitive developmental theory, 126
 sociocultural theories, 127
 systems theories, 126–127
- Humor
 peer groups, adolescents, 171–172
- Hunter-gatherer bands, 114
- ICT: see Identity control theory
- Identity, 214–228
 accounts of, discursive psychology, 244–245
 affect control theory, 218–221
 basic definition, 215
 collective identity, 226–228
 commitment, 218
 cross-cultural perspectives, 548
 crowds and social movements, 519–521
 group-level characteristics, identity based on, 224– 228
 collective identity, 226–228
 social identity, 224–226
 identity control theory, 221–224
 identity salience, 217–218
 identity theory, 217–218
 emotions and sentiments, 329
 small groups, integration and cohesion, 375
 social change and, 492
 individual-level characteristics, based on, 214–224
 affect control theory, 218–221
 identity control theory, 221–224
 identity theory, 217–218
 personal identity, 214–216
 role-identity theory, 216–217
 “not me” aspect of, 227
 personal identity, 214–216
 motivation, 215–216
 role-identity theory, 216–217
 self-categorization, 225
 social identity, 224–226
 intergroup relations, 484–485
 peer groups, adolescents, 169–171
 structural identity, 214 Identity control theory, 221–224
 feedback, 222
 Identity salience, 217–218

- Identity theory, 217–218
 emotions and sentiments, 329
 small groups, integration and cohesion, 375
 social change and, 492
- Ideologies, 284
 cultural differences, 294–295
 direct versus indirect experience, 294
 family transmission of, 292–293
 formation of, 292–295
 future research directions, 301–303
 mass media and, 293–294
- Idiosyncrasy credit
 small groups, 373
- Illocutionary performances, 236
- Imagery
 symbolic interactionism, 3–4
- “I-me” dualism, 207, 208
- Impression management, 274
- Inclusive fitness, 105–107
- Indexical expressions, 245
- Indian Hindu thought
 Self/Not Self, 534
- Indigenous concepts
 emic analysis, 535
- Individual, sociocultural context: see Sociocultural context, individual in
- Individual differences personality and, 480–481
- Individual-level characteristics, based on: see Identity
- Induction, 324
- Information processing, 266–269
 attribution, 267
 causal inferences, 267
 cognitive inferences, 266
 collective information processing, 275–276
 heuristics, 266–267
 information integration, 266
 power expectations, 267–268
 social categorization, 268
 target- and category-based expectancies, 268
 trait inferences, 267
- Inglehart’s model of values, 286
- In-group members, 115
- Institutional Review Board (IRB), 135–136
- Integration and cohesion
 small groups, 374–376
- Intelligence tests
 expectations states theory, 46
- Interaction
 small groups, 376–381
 coalitions, three-person groups, 376
 emotion, status structures and, 378–380
 exchange research, 377
 group polarization, 380–381
 status structures, development of, 377–378
- Interactional orders
 social structure and, 250–252
- Interactionist approaches to socialization, 129
 emotions and sentiments, 320–321
Interaction Process Analysis (Bales), 365–366
- Interactive determination, principle of, 5
- Intergroup relations, 479–501
 active minorities, 492–493
 affect, 487
 automatic schema activation, 483
 collective action, 491–493
 cross-cultural perspectives, 548
 disadvantage, 490
 social change and, 491–492
 diversity, 494–495
 goal relations and, 481–482 interdependence, 481–482
 intergroup anxiety, 493
 intergroup contact, 493–494
 intragroup attitudes, 487–488
 minimal groups, 483
 motivation, 485–487
 optimal distinctiveness theory, 486–487
 personality approaches, 485–486
 self-enhancement, 486
 social categorization, 486
 personality and individual differences, 480–481
 prejudice, 487–488
 discrimination, 488–490
 racism, 488
 realistic conflict theory, 482
 self and social identity, 484–485
 social categorization, 484–484
 accentuation and illusory correlation effects, 484
 automatic schema activation, 483
 minimal groups, 483
 motivation, 486
 social dominance theory, 481
 social explanation, 488
 social harmony, 493–495
 diversity, 494–495
 intergroup contact, 493–494
 social protest, 492–493
 stereotyping, 487–488
 stigma, 490
- Internet
 attraction, 346
 cross-cultural research, 546
 social networks, 397–398
- Interpersonal processes attraction and interpersonal relationships, 339–362 proximity principle, 91–92
 small groups, 363–387
 social networks, interaction in, 389–409
 social structure and psychological functioning, 411–447
- Interpersonal relationships, 347–355
 attachment style, 349–350
 attraction and: see Attraction

- Interpersonal relationships (cont.)
 concept of, 347
 individual factors, 349–350
 interaction of self and others, 351–352 interpersonal/dyadic factors, 350–352 multivariate approach, research, 351
 neuroticism, 349
 pulse of relationship, 347–348
 research on, 348–349
 future directions, 355–357
 social context factors, 352–355
 ethnicity, 354–355
 race, 354–355
 social construction of meaning, 353–354
 social networks, 352–353
- Interpretive approaches to socialization
 adolescence, 160–161
 childhood, 129–130
- Interpretive reproduction, 129–130
- Interruption
 goals, of, 314
 repeated interruptions, 329
- Interviewing
 children's lives, research methods, 132–133
- Intra- and intergroup relationships
 evolutionary social psychology, 114–115
- Intragroup attitudes, 487–488
- Intrapersonal processes
 attitudes, 284, 288–295
 emotions and sentiments, 309–335
 ideologies, 284, 285
 language and social interaction, 233–257
 self and identity, 205–232
 social cognition, 259–281
 values, 284, 285–288
- IRB: see Institutional Review Board (IRB)
- Irrational action, 311
- Italian families
 school, socialization and, 139
- James, William, 10–12, 313, 537
- Japan
 collectivism, 544–545
- Job performance, 221
- Kin groups, 105–107
- Kuhn, Manford, 17
- Labeling, 454, 467–468
- Language activities
 peer groups, adolescents, 171–174
- Language and social interaction, 233–257
 action, language and, 235–239
 discourse analysis, 239–241
 form of life, language as, 237–238
 illocutionary performances, 236
 language games, 238
- Language and social interaction (cont.)
 action, language and (cont.)
 “mapping” problem, 238–239, 244–245
 sociolinguistics, 239–241
 speech act theory, 236–237
 discursive psychology, 241–245
 courses of action, accounts of, 243
 identity, accounts of, 244–245
 mind, accounts of, 243–244
 ethnomethodology and conversation analysis, 245–248
 repair, organization of, 247–248
 sequences, organization of, 246–247
 turn-taking organization, 247
 frame analysis, 241–242
 overview of language in social psychology, 234–235 “performative” words, 233 significant symbols, 234–235
 social cognition, 274–275
 social structure, 248–252
 dialectics and reciprocal influence, 250
 interactional orders, 250–252
 macrodirectional approach, 248–250
 social categories and language use, 248–250
- Language games, 238
- Langue*, 239
- Latin Americans
 gender, children's understanding of, 145
- Leadership
 mobilization and, 516
 small groups, 372–374
 gender and, 373–374
- Learned helplessness, 426
- Learning
 evolutionary social psychology, 111–112
- Legitimacy
 expectations states theory, 42–44
- Legitimation
 small groups, 370–371
- Liberal political ideologies, 295
- Life course
 adolescence, 157–158
 human agency, 84
- Life course trajectories, 190–191
- Life history strategies, evolutionary social psychology, 107–108
- Literacy
 early childhood, 139
- Little League baseball teams, 143
- Locus of control, 424
- “Looking-glass self,” 207, 208
- Love, versions of, 317
- Macroinstitutional contexts of socialization, 194
- Macrolevel approaches to socialization, 128–129
- Magazines
 peer groups, adolescents, 173

- “Mapping” problem, language, 238–239, 244–245
 Marijuana Stamp Act of 1937, 454
 Marriage
 control, sense of, 431–432
 psychological distress and, 421, 423
 Marx, Karl, 261
 Marxism, 159, 226, 459
 conflict theory, 465
 Mass media: see also Media attitudes, ideas and ideologies, 293–294
 Mate selection research, 346–347
 Mattering, concepts important to, 212–213
 “Me,” 207, 208
 Mead, George Herbert, 10–12, 234, 535
 Meaning
 social construction of, 353–354
 symbolic interactionism, 6
 Media, use of
 peer groups, adolescents, 173
 Memory
 social cognition and, 265–266
 Mexico
 middle schools, 165
 Michigan School, 366–367
 Micro-exchange theory, 55
 Micro-macro effects
 human agency, 85–86
 Middle and junior high school, transition to, 163
 Middle school
 social worlds, 163–165
 Minimal groups, 483
 Minorities active, 492–493
 Mirowsky-Ross measure of sense of control, 425r, 427 Mistrust
 consequences of, 440–441
 defining and measuring, 436–437
 disorder, 437–438
 individual disadvantage, 439–440
 neighborhood disadvantage, 438
 powerlessness and, 437–438
 social conditions generating, 437–440
 structural amplification of, 437–439
 Moral shock, 518
 Motivation
 deviate, to: see Deviance
 intergroup relations, 485–487
 optimal distinctiveness theory, 486–487
 personality approaches, 485–486
 self-enhancement, 486
 social categorization, 486
 personal identity and, 215–216
 Multiple-act behavioral criteria, 297
 Multiple care giving, 138
 Music
 peer groups, adolescents, 174
 Naive scientist model, 260
 Nation as context, etic research, 542–545
 Naturalistic fallacy, 117
 Natural selection, 104–105
 Navajo Indians
 peer groups, adolescents, 170
 Neighborhood disadvantage
 mistrust and, 438
 Networks: see Social networks
 Neuroticism
 interpersonal relationships, 349
 Non-kin groups, 105–107
 Nonverbal play routines, 141–142
 Norms
 deviance
 conventional norms, deviance from, 457–460
 deviant norms, motivation to conform to, 460–462
 “Not me” aspect of identity, 227
 Object stories, 317
 Occupational socialization, 188–189
 Opportunistic behavior, 56
 Optimal distinctiveness theory
 intergroup relations, 486–487
 Organic conception of social life, 13–14
 Out-group members, 115
 Parental investment, 108–109
 Parenthood
 control, sense of, 431–432
 psychological distress and, 421–422
 Parents
 adult-child interaction, 137
 effect on behavior, 137 interaction with adolescents, 161–163
 Park, Robert E., 13–15
 PAR (parents as research) strategy, 135, 136
 Parsons, Talcott, 128, 159
 Peer cultures, children’s experiences, 140–147 fantasy play, 142–143
 friendships, 140–141
 gender, understanding of, 143–145 health and well-being, 147 play routines, children’s bodies and, 141–142 race, understanding of, 145–146 social class, understanding of, 146–147
 Peer groups, adolescents, 168–176
 discourse processes, 171–174
 humor, 171–172
 language activities, 171–174
 magazines, 173
 media, use of, 173
 music, 174
 peer relations, 168–169
 sexuality, 174–176
 social identity, 169–171
 socialization and, 168–176

- Peer groups, adolescents (cont.)
 story-telling, 172
 teasing, 171–172
 television, 173–174
- Performance expectation behavioral interchange patterns and, 39–40 rewards and, 38–39
 status characteristics and, 32–38
 aggregation assumption, 33–34
 attenuation effect, 34
 burden of proof, 33
 empirical evidence, 36–38
 feedback and, 37
 graph theoretic representation, 34–36
 inconsistency effect, 34
 status characteristics theory, 33–34
 theory of status generalization, 33
- Personal control: see Control, sense of
- Personal identity: see Identity
- Personality
 attitudes and, 296, 298
 individual differences and, 480–481
 motivation, intergroup relations, 485–486 social structure and: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Personal response style, 45
- Perspective display series, 251
- Phenomenological tradition, 261
- Philosophical Investigations* (Wittgenstein), 237
- Piagetian theory, 126
- Play
 fantasy play, 142–143
 verbal and nonverbal routines, children's bodies and, 141–142
- Polarization
 small groups, 380–381
- Polyandry, 113–114
- Popularity, high school, 167
- Postmodern symbolic interactionism, 24
- Poverty
 children in, 149
 psychological distress and, 420
- Power commitment and, 64–65
 dependence and, 57
 exchange and, 57–59, 64–65
 expectations, 267–268 inequality, 68–69
 small groups, 367–374
 social networks, 57–58
- Powerlessness, 427 control versus, 425*t*
 individual disadvantage, 439–440
 mistrust and, 437–438
 perceived, 434
- Pragmatism symbolic interactionism and, 13–18
- Pragmatism (cont.)
 symbolic interactionism and (cont.)
 early theories, 13–15
 “founders,” 17–18
 “self-theory,” 17
 social change and process, 13–17
- Prejudice, 487–488
 discrimination, 488–490
- Primary appraisal phase
 emotions and sentiments, 313
- Prior life experiences
 adult life course, 191–192
- Propriety
 small groups, 371
- Protest, 492–493
- Prototypes, 263
- Proximity principle, SSP research: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Psychoanalytic theory
 emotions and sentiments, 313
- Psychological distress
 age and, 422–423
 anger, 414–415
 anxiety, 412–414
 age and, 422
 defining and measuring, 412–416
 depression, 412–414
 age and, 422
 diminishing returns, 434–435
 employment and, 420, 422–423
 gender and, 416–419
 marriage, 421, 423
 parenthood and, 421–422 poverty and, 420
 social conditions generating, 416–423
 social structure and, 412–423
 socioeconomic status, 419–420
 well-being and distress as opposite poles, 415–416
- Psychological functioning
 social structure and, 411–447
 control, sense of, 423–436
 psychological distress, 412–423
 trust, 436–441
- Psychological principle, SSP research: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Puerto Ricans
 adolescents, career identities, 177 “Puzzling puzzle,” 207, 214
- Race
 children's understandings of, 145–146
 interpersonal relationships, 354–355
 residential segregation, human agency, 85
- Race differences
 control, sense of, 429–430
 language activities and discourse processes, adolescents, 171, 172

- Racism, 95
 intergroup relations, 488
- Rational action, 311
- Rational choice approach
 crowds and social movements, 511–515
- Realistic conflict theory, 482
- Reason, emotion and, 311–312
- Rebellion, 457
- Reciprocal influence
 social structure and, 250
- Reductionism, 116–117
- Reflexive role-taking
 emotions and sentiments, 319–320
- Relational cohesion theory, 61, 62–63
 embeddedness, 70
- Repair, organization of, 247–248
- Reproductive strategy
 evolutionary social psychology, 108–109
- “Research conversation,” 132–133
- Rewards
 performance expectation and, 38–39
- Riots, 491
- Ritual analysis, 538
- Rokeach model of values, 286–287
- Role differentiation
 small groups, 368–368
- Role-identity theory, 216–217
- Role schemas, 263
- Role-taking emotions and sentiments, 319–320
 symbolic interactionism, 7
- Role theory: see Social roles
- The Rules of Sociological Method* (Durkheim), 472
- Russia credit card market, 71–72
- Russian Geographical Society, 535
- Salient stimuli, 265
- Satisfaction, 416
- Schemas, 263–264
- School
 socialization and, 187–188
 adolescents, 163–168
 children, 138–140
 high school, 165–168
 middle and junior high school, transition to, 163
 middle school, 163–165
- Schwartz’s model of values, 287–288
- Scripts, 243
- Secondary appraisal phase
 emotions and sentiments, 313–314
- Second order expectations, 41–42
- Self: see also Self and identity cognitive system, as, 94–95
 intergroup relations, 484–485
 interpersonal relationships, interaction of self and others, 351–352
- Self (cont.)
 process, as, 206
 SSP research, 93–95
 symbolic interactionism, 7
 “self-theory,” 17
 significance of self, 19
- Self and identity, 205–232
 distinctions, 206–207 “looking-glass self,” 207
 philosophy and, 206 self and self-concept, 208–214
 comfort with the self, 213–214
 identity, 214–228
 “I-me” dualism, 207, 208
 self-mattering, concepts important to, 212–213
 self-presentation theory, 210–212
 social force, self-concept as, 209–210
 social product, self-concept as, 209–210
 theory, 208–209
- Self-categorization, 225
- Self-concept prior life experience and, 192
- Self-consistency, 209
- Self-efficacy
 control, sense of, 425
- Self-enhancement
 motivation, intergroup relations, 486
- Self-esteem attraction and, 344
- Self-evaluation, 326
- Self-mattering, concepts important to, 212–213
- Self-monitoring, 296
- Self-presentation theory
 self-concept and, 210–212
- “Self-theory,” 17
- Self-verification, 209
- Sentiments: see Emotions and sentiments
- September 11 terrorist attacks, 283
- Sequences, organization of, 246–247
- SES: see Socioeconomic status
- Sex differences
 evolutionary social psychology, 108–109
 mate preferences, 118
- Sexuality
 peer groups, adolescents, 174–176
- Sexual selection
 evolutionary social psychology, 110–111
- Shame, 325–326
- Siblings
 adolescents socialization, 163 care giving by, 138
- Simmel, Georg, 364
- Situation
 attitudes and behavior, 298
- Small groups, 363–387
 agreements, 379
 authorization, 371

- Small groups (cont.)
- coalitions, three-person groups, 376
 - cognition, 375–376
 - communicated evaluations, 370
 - conflict model, 455
 - endorsement, 371
 - exchange research, 377
 - field theoretic approach, 367
 - focal issues, 367–381
 - Harvard School, 365–366
 - idiosyncrasy credit, 373
 - integration and cohesion, 374–376
 - interaction, 376–381
 - coalitions, three-person groups, 376
 - emotion, status structures and, 378–380
 - exchange research, 377
 - group polarization, 380–381
 - status structures, development of, 377–378
 - leadership, 372–374
 - gender and, 373–374
 - legitimation, theories of, 370–371
 - Michigan School, 366–367
 - military, 364
 - performance outputs, 370
 - polarization, 380–381
 - propriety, 371
 - research, early, 364–367
 - role differentiation, 368–368
 - social comparison theory, 380
 - social decision theory, 380
 - status and power in, 367–374
 - status structures
 - development of, 377–378
 - emotion and, 378–380
- Social and cultural reproduction
- adolescence, 158–159
- Social anxiety
- middle school, 164
- Social behavior
- exchange, as, 54–56
- Social capital, 404
- Social categorization, 268, 272
- accentuation and illusory correlation effects, 484
 - intergroup relations, 482–484
 - accentuation and illusory correlation effects, 484
 - automatic schema activation, 483
 - minimal groups, 483
 - motivation, 486
 - language and action and, 248–250
- Social change
- collective action and, 491–492
 - deviance and, 473–474
 - symbolic interactionism, 13–17
- Social class
- children's understandings of, 146–147
- Social cognition, 259–281
- accessibility of cognitive structures, 265
- Social cognition (cont.)
- attribution, 267
 - bystander response research, 262
 - causal inferences, 267
 - cognitive change, 270–271
 - cognitive errors, 269
 - cognitive inferences, 266
 - cognitive processes, 264–266
 - cognitive stability, 270–271
 - cognitive structures, 262–264
 - contextual conditions, 265
 - conversation and, 275
 - critical social psychology, 262
 - cross-cultural perspectives, 276–277
 - defining, 260–262
 - elements of, 262–266
 - epistemological status of thought, 270
 - ethnicity and, 259
 - expectation states theory, 262
 - heuristics, 266–267
 - hybridization of, 260
 - impression management, 274
 - information integration, 266
 - information processing, 266–269
 - collective information processing, 275–276
 - intergroup aspects of, 272–273
 - issues in, 269–271
 - language and, 274–275
 - memory, 265–266
 - motivated tactician, 260
 - naive scientist model, 260
 - phenomenological tradition, 261
 - power expectations, 267–268
 - prototypes, 263
 - psychological research, relation to, 260–261
 - relation to other theoretical paradigms, 260–261
 - role schemas, 263
 - salient stimuli, 265
 - schemas, 263–264
 - self, 93–95
 - small groups, integration and cohesion, 375–376
 - social categorization, 268, 272
 - social exchange theory, 261
 - social interaction and, 273–275
 - social representations, 264
 - social structure and, 275–276
 - sociological research, 261–262
 - sociologists and, 272–277
 - SSP research, 92–93
 - symbolic interactionist tradition, 261
 - target- and category-based expectancies, 268
 - trait inferences, 267
- Social comparisons, 208
- small groups, 380
- Social construction of meaning, 353–354
- Social decision theory
- small groups, 380

- Social disorganization, 465, 467
- Social dominance theory, 481
- Social evaluation, 326
- Social exchange theory, 53–76, 261
- attraction, 55–56
 - coalition formation, 68–69
 - collective action, 67–69
 - commitment to exchange relations, 64–66
 - cultural differences, 71–72
 - definition of social exchange, 54
 - deprivation-satiation proposition, 55
 - dyadic exchange, 54–55
 - economic sociology, linkages to, 70–73
 - embeddedness, 70
 - emotion and exchange, 61–64
 - emotions and sentiments, 330
 - fairness, exchange and, 59–61
 - micro-exchange theory, 55
 - opportunistic behavior, 56
 - power, exchange and, 57–59, 64–65
 - status relations, 66–67
 - relational cohesion theory, 61, 62–63
 - embeddedness, 70
 - social behavior as exchange, 54–56
 - social status, links, 53–54
 - social uncertainty, 65–66, 71
 - status relations, 66–67
 - structure of social exchange, 56
- Social explanation
- intergroup relations, 488
- Social force, self-concept as, 209–210
- Social functioning
- deviance and, 473
- Social harmony, 493–495
- Social identity, 224–226
- intergroup relations, 484–485
 - peer groups, adolescents, 169–171
- Social influence
- collectivities, groups and, 396
- Social interaction
- language and: see Language and social interaction
 - social cognition and, 273–275
- Socialization, 127–130
- adolescence, 157–182
 - family, 161–163
 - future research, directions, 176–177
 - interpretive, 160–161
 - life course, 157–158
 - peer groups, 168–176
 - schools, 163–168
 - social and cultural reproduction, 158–159
 - subcultural approaches, 159–160
 - theoretical perspectives, 157–161
 - adulthood, 183–202
 - conceptualization of socialization, 184–189
 - adult life course
 - conceptualization of, 184–189
- Socialization (cont.)
- adult life course (cont.)
 - concurrent life experiences, 194–196
 - expanding conceptualization of, 189–198
 - historical variability, 197–198
 - individual biographies of socializees, 190–196
 - life course trajectories, 190–191
 - new directions for research, 198–200
 - occupational socialization, 188–189
 - prior life experiences, 191–192
 - temporal orientations, 192–194, 196–197
 - theoretical development of socialization, 185–189
 - childhood, 125–155
 - cognitive developmental theory, 126
 - contexts of socialization, 136–140
 - convergence in theories, 130–131
 - family, children in, 136–138
 - human development, psychological theories, 126–127
 - interactionist approaches, 129
 - interpretive approaches, 129–130
 - larger structures, interactions with, 147–150
 - macrolevel approaches, 128–129
 - peer cultures, 140–147
 - research methods, 131–136
 - school, children in, 138–140
 - sociocultural theories, 127
 - sociological theories of socialization, 127–130
 - systems theories, 126–127
 - chronic illness and, 195–196
 - context specific, as, 186–187
 - crowds, 509–511
 - emotions and sentiments, 320–322
 - cognitive-developmental approach, 320–321
 - interactionist perspective, 321–322
 - family and, 136–138, 187
 - interactionist approaches, 129
 - interpretive approaches, 129–130
 - life-stage specific, as, 186
 - macrolevel approaches, 128–129
 - occupational socialization, 188–189
 - school and, 187–188
 - adolescents, 163–168
 - children, 138–140
 - high school, 165–168
 - middle and junior high school, transition to, 163
 - middle school, 163–165
 - social movements, 509–511
- Social life
- organic conception, 13–14
- Social movements, 503–527
- behavioral models, 508–509
 - constructionist approach, 515–521
 - emotion, 517–519
 - identity, 519–521
 - symbolization, 516–517
 - contagion, 508–509

- Social movements (cont.)
 dispositional approach, 505–507
 incentives, 514
 learning models, 507–511
 rational choice approach, 511–515
 socialization model, 509–511
 social protest, 492–493
 theoretical perspectives and cornerstone concepts, 522*t*
- Social networks
 agency, 405–406
 collectivities, groups and, 393–398
 foundational theoretical concepts, 393–395
 friendship, 395–396
 Internet networks, 397–398
 network effects model, 396
 social influence, 396
 social support, 397
 structural position, 394–395
 subareas of empirical work, 395–398
 transitivity, 393–394
 weak ties, 395
- dyadic relationships, 398–403
 barriers, 400
 beginnings, 398–399
 close dyads and change in network composition, 399
 dyadic withdrawal, 399
 influence of dyads on social networks, 402
 information, 400–401
 opportunities, 400
 reactions, 401–402
 social roles, 399
 well-being and stability, 399–402
- enemies, 404–405
 extension and contraction, 69 influences on, 405–406 interaction in, 389–409
 centrality, 392
 cliques, 392
 concepts, 391–393
 daily work ties, example, 391*f* density, 392
 equivalence, 392–393 principles of perspective, 390–391 size, 391
 strength of ties, 392
 transitivity, 392
- interpersonal relationships, 352–353
 power and, 57–58
 processes and, 403–404
 proximity principle, 86–88
 relational cohesion theory, 62
 research, future, 403–406
 social capital, 404
- Social product, self-concept as, 209–210
- Social protest, 492–493
- Social representations, 264
- Social roles
 dyadic relationships, 399
 proximity principle, 88–89
 roles-as-resources perspective, 89–90
- Social stratification
 language and, 248–250
- Social structural symbolic interactionism, 22–24
- Social structure
 cognition and emotion, theoretical links, 412*f*
 culture, as opposed to, 530
 emotions and sentiments and, 315–316
 language, action and, 248–252
 dialectics and reciprocal influence, 250
 interactional orders, 250–252
 macrodirectional approach, 248–250
 social categories and language use, 248–250
 personality and: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research psychological functioning and, 411–447
 control, sense of, 423–436
 psychological distress, 412–423
 trust, 436–441
 social cognition and, 275–276
 SSP research: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Social structure and personality (SSP) research, 77–102
 components principle, 79, 80–86 culture and structure, distinction, 82–83
 human agency, 83–86
 human agency, 83–86
 key principles of, 79–81 pattern of social relationships, 77–79
 proximity principle, 79, 86–91
 interpersonal processes, 90–91
 social networks, 88
 social roles, 88–89
 psychological principle, 79, 92–97 biology, 95–96
 self, 93–95
 social cognition, 93
- Social support
 collectivities, groups and, 397
 control, sense of, 435
- Social uncertainty, 65–66, 71
- Society
 symbolic interactionism, definition, 3
- Sociocultural context, individual in cross-cultural social psychology, 529–553
 crowds and social movements, 503–527
 deviance, 451–478
 intergroup relations, 479–501
 social movements, 503–527
- Socioeconomic status
 control, sense of, 428–429
 psychological distress and, 419–420

- Sociolinguistics, 239–241
- Sociological research
- social cognition and, 261–262
- Sociometry, 373
- Soviet thought
- self, view of, 535
- Speech act theory, 236–237
- SSP research: see Social structure and personality (SSP) research
- Status
- small groups, 367–374
- Status characteristics theory, 91–92
- performance expectation, status characteristics and aggregation assumption, 33–34
 - attenuation effect, 34
 - burden of proof, 33
 - empirical evidence, 36–38
 - feedback and, 37
 - gender, 32, 38
 - graph theoretic representation, 34–36
 - inconsistency effect, 34
 - status characteristics theory, 33–34
 - status hierarchies, 31f
 - theory of status generalization, 33
- Status construction theory, 44–46
- Status inconsistency
- adult life course, 195
- Status relations
- social exchange and, 66–67
- Stereotyping, 487–488
- Stigma, 490
- Story-telling
- peer groups, adolescents, 172
- Subculture
- adolescent socialization, 159–160
- Surveys
- children's lives, research methods, 133–134
- Symbolic and material culture, children's interactions with, 148
- Symbolic interactionist framework, 3–28, 261
- conceptualizations, 6–8
 - definitions of the situation, 6
 - emotions and sentiments, 318–320
 - environment, 4
 - frameworks, discussed, 8–9
 - goals of analyses, 18
 - imagery, 3–4
 - imagination, society existing only in, 14
 - interactive determination, principle of, 5
 - interpersonal relationships, interaction of self and others, 351–352
 - “me” and “I,” 10–12
 - meaning, 6
 - methodological predictions, 20–21
 - organic conception of social life, 13–14
 - perspectives, 19
 - phenomenology vs. behaviorism, 19
- Symbolic interactionist framework (cont.)
- philosophical context, 10–12
 - postmodern symbolic interactionism, 24
 - pragmatism and, 13–18
 - early theories, 13–15
 - “founders,” 17–18
 - “self-theory,” 17
 - social change and process, 13–17
 - premises, 4–6
 - process versus structure, 18–19
 - role-taking, 7
 - self, 7
 - significance of, 19
 - significant symbols, 6
 - social structural symbolic interactionism, 22–24
 - society, defined, 3
 - symbolization, 5–6
 - theory and theoretical framework distinguished, 8
 - traditional symbolic interactionism, 21–22
- Symbolization, 5–6
- crowds and social movements, 516–517
- Systems theories of human development, 126–127
- Talk
- social structure and, 250
- Taoism
- self, view of, 534
- Teasing
- adolescents, 171–172
- Television
- peer groups, adolescents, 173–174
- Temporal orientations
- adult life course, 192–194
 - importance of, 196–197
- Terminally ill individuals, 195–196, 197
- Terrorism, 283
- Theoretical perspectives
- evolutionary social psychology, 103–122
 - expectations states theory, 29–51
 - social exchange theory, 53–76
 - social structure and personality (SSP) research, 77–102
 - symbolic interactionist framework, 3–28
- Theory of reasoned action, 297
- Thomas, William Isaac, 13–15
- Tiwi of Australia, 113
- Trait inferences, 267
- Transient feelings, 219
- Transitivity
- collectivities, groups and, 393–394
- Trust, 436–441
- defining and measuring, 436–437
- TST: see Twenty Statements Test (TST)
- Turn-taking organization, 247
- Twenty Statements Test (TST), 17
- Type A personality, 415
- Typicality effect, 297

- Uncertainty: see Social uncertainty
- Universal values, 539–542
- Values, 284, 285–288
- attitudes and behavior, 298–300
 - cultural differences, 294–295
 - cultural estrangement, 300–301
 - direct versus indirect experience, 294
 - family transmission of, 292–293
 - formation of, 292–295
 - future research directions, 301–303
 - Inglehart's model, 286
 - mass media and, 293–294
 - Rokeach model, 286–287
 - Schwartz's model, 287–288
- Verbal play routines, 141–142
- Vietnamese Americans
- families, 162
- Violation of conventions, 326
- Weber, Max, 261, 314
- Well-being
- distress and well-being as opposite poles, 415–416
 - dyadic relationships and, 399–402
 - health and well-being, children's understanding of, 147
- Words
- "deeds," 233
 - "performative," 233
- Work: see also Employment
- children's interactions with work and economy, 148–149
 - control, sense of
 - family interactions, 431
 - paid and unpaid work, 430
- Working class youths
- peer groups, adolescents, 168–169
- World Values Survey, 541
- Wundt, Wilhelm, 11
- "Youth subculture," 159–160