

Index

A

- AAF, see Adult acquired flatfoot (AAF)
- ABN, see Advance Beneficiary Notice (ABN)
- Abnormal pronation, 45
- Abnormal tibial sesamoid with fracture, 42
- Accessory navicular tuberosity, 44
- Achilles tendon, 44
- See also* Lower extremity pathology
- Acrylic fiber socks, 73–74
- Adult acquired flatfoot (AAF), 117
- Advance Beneficiary Notice (ABN), 327
- Aerobic dance, 283
- injury prevention, factors in
    - careful monitoring of participants, 285–286
    - keen observation of instructor, 284–285
    - overuse injuries, prevention of, 285
    - sports medicine specialist, role of, 285–286
  - kickboxing and, 287
  - shoe used in, 284
  - urban rebounding system, 286–287
  - vocabulary used in, 284
- AFO, see Ankle foot orthoses (AFO)
- Alpine/downhill skiing, see Skiing
- Ambulatory ankle foot orthoses, 120–122
- American Journal of Sports Medicine*, 104
- Ankle
- chronic inversion ankle sprains, 25–26
  - dorsiflexion angle, 29
  - pencil test for, 297
  - sprains, 42
    - balance and proprioception, 128–129
    - with erythema and edema, 43
    - Grade II and Grade III, 131
    - prevention of, 129–130
    - treatment, 131
  - valgus, 38
- Ankle braces, 119, 278
- sports performance, effect on, 127–128
  - treatment effects of
    - kinetics and kinematics, 122–126
    - types, 120
- Ankle foot orthoses (AFO), 119, 180, 314, 317
- treatment effects of
    - kinetic and kinematics, 126–127
    - types of, 120
- Anti-microbial socks, 73–74
- Anti-pronation custom foot orthosis, 29
- Articulated stirrup brace, 120–121
- Athletes deformities, 39
- Athletic shoes
- anatomy, 55
    - balmoral versus blucher, 56
    - heel counter, 57
    - last, 56
    - midsole, 57
    - outer sole, 56–57
    - toe box, 56
    - upper, 57
    - vamp, 56
  - clinical assessment of
    - fit, 59
    - forefoot flexibility, 60
    - insoles, 59–60
    - lateral midsole heel cushion, 61
    - medial midsole heel density, 61
    - midfoot frontal stability, 60
    - midfoot sagittal stability, 60
  - contributors in development, 7–10
  - early research on, 10–11
  - evaluation, 55
  - function, 57
    - arch length and foot length, 58
    - shoe sizing, 58
    - width of foot, 58
  - heel counter, 61

- Athletic shoes (cont.)
 outsole surface area, 62
 75-point rating scale for, 137
- B
- Ballet slipper, 299
- Baseball and softball and footwear modifications brands and models, 305 cleats, special features of, 305 footwear recommendations, 304 lower extremity biomechanics and considerations, 303–304
 men's molded cleat baseball shoe, 304
- Basketball and volleyball basketball shoes
 forefoot cushioning in, 275 high-top construction in, 276 outsole and midsole in, 275 shank stability in, 275–276 custom foot orthoses, use of, 277–278
 injuries and prevention
 Jones fracture, 279
 lateral ankle sprain, 278
 other injuries, 279
 plantar fasciitis, 278–279
 tibial fasciitis, 279
 volleyball shoes, 276–277
- BDC, see Bottom-dead-center (BDC)
- BioFresh anti-microbial sock fibers, 73–74
- Blake Inverted Orthosis, 24
- Bottom-dead-center (BDC), 166–167
- Braver ballet orthosis, 299
- Built-up in-shoe leather devices, 20
- “Bunny hopping,” 53
- C
- Calcaneal apophysitis, 40
See also Lower extremity pathology
- Cast fill, 115
- Cavus foot deformity, 31
- Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), DME definition by, 322
- CFO, see Custom foot orthoses (CFO)
- Cheerleading
 injuries and prevention, 289–290
 movements in jumps, 288
 leg positions, 288
 stunting, 288–289
- Chronic peroneal tendinopathy, 25–26
- Clinical assessment of athletic shoe fit, 59
 forefoot flexibility, 60
 insoles, 59–60
 lateral midsole heel cushion, 61
 medial midsole heel density, 61
 midfoot frontal stability, 60
 midfoot sagittal stability, 60
- Clipless pedals, 178, 194–195, 205
- Clip-type pedals, 178
- The Complete Book of Running*, 103
- COOLMAX socks, 73
- Cotton socks, 71–72
- Crew length sock, 70
- Crisscross lacing pattern, 80
 inside-eyelet, 83
 outside-eyelet, 82
See also Lacing of athletic shoe
- Cross-country skiing, 272
 biomechanical considerations, for skier, 273 boots in, 273
 stride length and stride rate in, 273 swing kick and glide technique and, 273
- Cross-trainers, 284
- Cross-training shoes, 66
- Curing agent for orthodigital devices, 97
- Custom foot orthoses (CFO), 113, 122 accommodations built, 188 and additions, 117–118 cast of foot biomechanically modifications, 182
 blake inversion, 183
 heel cup depth, 184
 impression, balancing of, 182–183
 width of, 183–184
 construction materials, selection of, 185 correction and positive balancing, 115–117 extension, 117–118, 187–188 fascial accommodations, 184–185 graphite materials used in, 186 material and flexibility, 114–115 polypropylene use, 185–186
 systematic approach, 181
- Customized footwear guidelines determination of athlete's demands from sport, 135 athletic ankle foot orthoses and modifications, 140 athletic custom foot orthoses and modifications, 140 athletic shoe modifications, 139 athletic socks, 138–139
 follow-up re-assessment for possible modifications after wear-testing, 140

- foot pathology, 135
  - foot type, 133–134
  - function during gait, 134–135
  - key features of athletic shoes, 136–139
  - pre-fabricated athletic shoe insoles, 139
  - referral for custom foot/ankle orthoses, 139
  - shoe laces and lacing techniques, 139
  - size and weight of athlete, 135
  - Custom-molded foot orthoses, 19, 89
  - Cycling, 193
    - cycling shoes, 197
      - closure system, 173, 177
      - construction of, 198–203
      - cycling cleats, 203–204
      - foot-bed/sock liner, 174
      - future of, 211
      - heel post/pillar, 173–174
      - longitudinal and torsional stability, 177
      - pedal and cleat systems, float, 178
      - shoe fit, 198
      - sole of, 173–174
      - stack height and toe break angle, 174
      - toe box and vamp shape, 173
      - upper of, 172–173
    - injuries and risk factors, 196–197
    - injuries prevention, footwear recommendations for
      - achilles tendon and posterior heel pain, 210
      - forefoot pain, 210–211
      - iliotibial band syndrome, 209
      - knee pain, 208–209
      - limb length inequality, 209–210
    - insoles, 206–207
    - lower extremity biomechanics and considerations, 193
      - pedal cycle, 194–195
      - pedaling technique, 195–196
    - mountain biking shoe construction, 202–203
    - orthoses, 207–208
    - pedals, 205
      - foot position on, 206
    - road cycling shoe construction, 198–200
    - socks, 208
    - sport cycling shoe construction, 201–202
  - Cycling act
    - power and recovery phases
      - calf muscles, effect of, 167
      - knee and Q-angles, translocation of, 167
    - lower extremity joints and muscle, complex interaction, 166–167
    - pedal cycle, 166
    - RPM, 166
    - TDC/BDC, 166
- D
- Dance
    - dance styles and stress on lower extremity, 291
    - evaluation of dancer, considerations in, 291
    - flexibility and strength, exercises for, 295
    - foot and hip, 296
    - foot evaluation of
      - first ray and first MPJ, testing of, 292–293
      - first ray testing non-weight bearing, 294
      - first ray testing weight bearing, 294
      - functional examination, 293
      - releve check, 292
      - resting and neutral calcaneal stance position, measurements of, 292
      - weight-bearing foot x-ray evaluation, 293
    - foot hygiene and care, 302–303
    - footwear recommendations for dancer, 299
    - hip, evaluation of, 294
      - rotational disk, use of, 295
    - knee, evaluation of, 294
    - shape and function of foot, examination of
      - ankle joint, 297
      - midtarsal joint, 297–298
  - Diabetic athletes and prefabricated insoles, 91
  - Distal–medial eyelet lacing technique, 84
  - Dorland's Medical Dictionary*, 19–20
  - Double-layer synthetic socks, 75
  - Down syndrome, 310
  - Durable medical equipment (DME), in sports medicine, 321
    - assignment
      - non-participating supplier, 324–325
      - participating supplier, 324
    - billing in plantar fasciitis, example of, 335–340
    - billing protocols
      - deductibles and deposits, 329
      - denial, obtaining of, 327–328
      - dispensing requirements, 329–330
      - HCPCS code, use of, 326
      - incorrect or overpayment, 328
      - modifiers, use of, 328–329
      - NPI number, 327
      - place of service, on claim form, 327

- Durable medical equipment (DME) (cont.) sales tax, 329
 casts, payment of, 335 communication, recording of, 326
 custom foot orthoses and biomechanical examination, 332 and evaluation and management service (E/M), 331 gait analysis, 332 and patient education, 332
 definition of, 321–322 fee schedule, 325–326
 licensure for, 323–324 and office forms/policies, 326
 orthoses, 331
 orthoses HCPCS codes
 E/M service, orthosis management and, 333 orthosis modifications, 333 postoperative/wooden shoes/cast shoes, 334–335 replacement interval inability to deliver DME, 330 requirements in definition of durability, 322 medical equipment, 322 medically necessary, 322–323 not medically necessary, 323
 strappings, 335
 therapeutic shoes for diabetics, 331
 Dynamic ankle–foot orthosis (DAFO), 317
- E
 Elastic (bungee-like cord) lacing material, 79
 Equines, 38
 Evaluation and Management service (E/M), 331
- F
 Feedback mimicking stabilometry, 47
 Fibers for athletic socks, 72–74
 “Finger-trap” system, 79 Fitting in athletic shoe shape curved and linear, 64 size, 63–64
 stability, 64–65
 style, 65–66
 Flexible pes planus, 38
 Float, 178
 Foot
 functional foot disorders deformities in athletes, 39 lower extremity pathology, 40–45
 treatment, 46
 motion and biomechanics during gait, 37
 types
 functional flat foot, 38
 hypermobile flat foot, 38
 pes planus, 38
 rectus, 38
- Football
 foot structure and type pronated, 228–229
 rectus, 228
 supinated, 229 footwear for ankle bracing, 233
 ankle spinting, 233
 cleat selection, 232 historical background, 231–232
 lacing techniques, 233
 materials, 232–233
 orthotics, 233–234
 sock selection, 234 injuries and footwear recommendations lateral ankle sprains, 236
 metatarsalgia, 235
 neuroma, 235
 sesamoiditis, 234–235
 syndesmotic ankle sprains, 236 turf toe, 234
 movements and lower extremity biomechanics backpedaling, 227 cutting, 227
 injuries sustained, 227–228
 jumping, 226–227
 kicking, 227 running, 225–226
 sprinting, 226
The Foot Book: Advice for Athletes, 103
- Foot orthoses in sports biomechanical and therapeutic effects, 27 definition, 19
 American College of Foot and Ankle
 Orthopedic Medicine by, 89–90 by Kirby, 20 evolution, 20
 standing without, 27
- Force plates, 49–50
 Forefoot flexional stability, 139
 Forefoot varus, 38
 Freiberg’s disease, 41
See also Lower extremity pathology
 Friction blisters, 75–76

- Full grain leather, 240
 Functional flat foot, 38
 Functional hallux limitus, 107–108
See also Orthotic therapy
- G
 Gait biomechanics kinematics and foot orthoses, 29
   walking and running, 143–144
 Gait evaluation of athlete, 47 digital video analysis, 51
     2D analysis, 49
     3D analysis, 48
   2D kinematic evaluation of patellar tracking, 48 pressure analysis, 49–50
     in-shoe pressure analysis, 52–53
 Gauntlet style braces, 120
 Ground reaction force (GRF), 23
- H
 Hallux abducto valgus, 44–45
See also Lower extremity pathology
 Hallux valgus, 38
 Hammer toe deformity, 45
See also Lower extremity pathology
 Hammertoes, 38
 Healthcare Common Procedure Coding System (HCPCS) code, 326
 Heavily padded sports-specific socks, 76
 Heel cup depth, 115
 Heel lock lacing modification, 84–85
 Heel spur syndrome/plantar fasciitis at origin of plantar fascia, 41
   orthotic therapy for, 105–107
See also Lower extremity pathology
 Heel strike, 37
 High-top basketball shoe, 276
 Hip/lower back problems, 38
 Hollofil sock fibers, 73
 “Hotspots,” 52
 Hypermobile flat foot, 38
- I
 Innova anti-microbial sock fibers, 73–74
 In-shoe devices, 19–20
 In-shoe pressure analysis
   module, 50
   static foot image, 52
 Insulating fibers, 73
 Interdigital neuroma, 44
See also Lower extremity pathology
 Internal ankle inversion moment, 29
 Internal tibial rotation, 29
- Inversion–eversion and medial–lateral platform movements, 30
 Irish dance shoe, 299
- J
 Jazz shoe, 299
 Jones fracture, 279
- K
 Kangaroo leather, 240
 Kickboxing, 287
 Kirby heel skive, 312
 Klap skate, 252
 Knee adduction, 29
 Knee flexion or hyperextension, 52
 Knee pain, 109
See also Orthotic therapy
 Kohler’s disease, 40–41
See also Lower extremity pathology
- L
 Lacing of athletic shoe lacing techniques
     crisscross, 80
     distal–medial eyelet, 82, 84 heel lock, 83–85
     inside-eyelet, 82–83
     non-crossing, 81
     open distal eyelet, 83, 85
     open eyelet, 84–85
     outside-eyelet, 82
   length of, 87
   material, 79
   shapes of, 80
   shoelace-locking systems, 86–87
 Lateral heel skive technique, 25–26
 Leather shoes, for soccer players, 240
 Leg length difference, 38
 Ligamentous laxity, 38
 Limb length discrepancy, 66–67
 Lisfranc’s joint, 298
 Lock laces lace-locking systems, 86
 Look Cycle, 204
 Lower extremity biomechanical classification system, 20
 Lower extremity pathology
   Achilles tendon, 44
   ankle sprains, 42–43
   calcaneal apophysitis, 40
   Freiberg’s disease, 41
   hallux abducto valgus, 44–45
   hammer toe deformity, 45
   heel spur syndrome/plantar fasciitis, 41
   interdigital neuroma, 44

Lower extremity pathology (cont.)

- Kohler's disease, 40–41
- patellofemoral dysfunction, 44
- posterior tibial tendonitis, 44
- sesamoiditis, 42
- stress fracture, 42
- Taylor's bunion, 45

M

- Mat scans, 50
  - Medial heel skive technique, 25
  - Medial knee pain, 38
  - Medial–lateral sway, 30
  - Medial shin syndrome, 229
  - Medial skive technique, 116
  - Mentally and physically handicapped individuals
    - athletic events, participation in, 317
    - health risks, need of
      - identification of, 308
    - foot abnormalities and treatment
      - hyperhidrosis, 317
      - pes cavus, 314–317
      - pes planus, 308–314
    - and gait problems, 307
    - normal gait and development of lower extremity
      - ankle equinus, 308–309
      - foot problems and biomechanical mechanisms, 308
  - Merino wool socks, 72
  - Metatarsalgia, 31
  - Metatarsal phalangeal joint (MPJ), 292
  - “Met cookie,” 44
  - MicroSafe anti-microbial sock fibers, 73–74
  - Mini-crew sock, 70
  - Modifications in athletic shoe, 66
    - stretching, 67
  - Moisture management on surface of foot, 71
  - Motion control shoes, 65
  - Mountain biking (MTB) shoes, 202–203
- N
- National Provider Identifier (NPI)
    - number, 327
  - Neuromas, 38
  - Neutral-type feet, 65
  - Night splints, 120
  - No-insole condition, 31–32
  - Non-crossing, parallel lacing pattern, 81
  - Non-custom arch, 19
  - Nonelastic lacing material, 79

O

- Older-aged triathlete, 190
  - racing and training
    - cycling phase of, 191
- Open distal eyelet lacing technique, 85
- Open eyelet lacing technique, 85
- Orthodigital devices, 95
  - after molding process, 100
  - clinical example of, 99
  - guidelines for fabrication
    - materials, 96
    - steps, 96–99
  - for support, 100
- Orthosis function
  - orthosis reaction force (ORF), 24
  - research and theory on, 20
    - biomechanical effects, 28
    - contractile activity of lower extremity muscles, 30
    - foot and lower extremity kinematics and kinetics, 29–30
    - kinetics of gait, 29
    - plantar forces and pressures, 31–32
    - postural stability, 30
    - STJ moments and, 24
    - therapeutic effectiveness, 21–28
- Orthotic therapy
  - evidence for, 104
  - functional hallux limitus, 107–108
  - knee pain, 109
  - plantar fasciitis, 105–107
  - tarsal tunnel syndrome, 108–109
- Outlast sock fibers, 73
- Over-the-calf design sock, 69–70
- Over-the-counter device, 91, 180
- Overuse injuries
  - associated with running, 190
  - and athlete, 189
  - in cycling, 190

P

- Paralympic games, 307
- PAS, see Prophylactic ankle stabilizer (PAS)
- Patellofemoral dysfunction, 44
  - See also* Lower extremity pathology
- Patellofemoral syndrome, 22
- Pedaling techniques, 195–196
- Pediatric flatfoot deformity, 25
- Pencil test for ankle, 297
- Peroneal cuboid syndrome, 230
- Peroneal spastic flatfoot, 38
- Pes cavus, 314
  - and cerebral palsy, 315–317

- Pes planus foot acquired, 309
   biomechanical imbalances and, 311 classification of disorders, 309 conservative treatment options, 311–312 and Down syndrome, 310 foot deformities in, 311 genetics, 309
   osseous developmental problems and, 310 with posterior tibial tendon dysfunction stages, 38–39
     surgical arthrodesis, 39
   pronation of foot in, 309 shoe modifications and orthoses, 312
     accommodative orthoses, 313
     AFO/SMO, use of, 314
     custom foot orthoses, 313
     functional orthoses, 313
     leather orthoses, 313 rigid polyolefin orthoses, 313
     UCBL orthoses, 313–314
- Plantar hyperhidrosis, 317
 Plantar pressures and forces on foot, 31
 Pointe shoe, 299
 Pointe shoe construction, 298
 Posterior tibial tendon dysfunction
   (PTD), 117
 Posterior tibial tendonitis, 44
   See also Lower extremity pathology
 Postural sway, 30
 Pre-fabricated ankle foot orthoses,
   120–121, 131
 Prefabricated insoles, 90
   modifications of, 91
     U-shaped pad and metatarsal pad, 92
     varus wedge, 93
 Preferred movement pathway model, 28
 Pressure mapping technologies, 47
 Pronated foot type, 44
 Pronation-related symptoms, 24
 Prophylactic ankle stabilizer (PAS), 119
 PTTD, see Posterior tibial tendon dysfunction (PTTD)
- R
 Racing shoes arch, support, 158–160
   cross-country, 153
   lightweight trainer, 152 purpose of, 151–152 road racing flat, 152 skin issues, 158
   spike plate, 152–154, 157–158
   taping techniques, 159 track and field
     jumps, 155–157
     middle and long distance, 154–155
     sprints, 154
     throwing events, 156
   training, 157–158
- Racquet sports
   biomechanical demands of, 216 court design and surfaces in, 215–216 court shoes for, 217
     desirable features, of court shoe, 221 functional design features, for sports shoes, 217 comfort, 220–221
     injury prevention, 218–219 performance, 219–220 injuries in, 216–217
   nub outsoles, on tennis shoes, 220
   orthoses, use of, 221–222
     recommended features, 222
- Rearfoot eversion velocity, 29
 Reverse Morton's extension, 42, 117
 Revolutions per minute (RPM), 166
 Richie brace ankle foot orthosis, 278
 Rigid pes planus, 38
 Road cycling shoes, 198–200
 Rocker bottom soles, 67
 Roll top sock, 70
 Romberg test, 48
 Root-type design, 116
 Rotational Adjustment Device (RAD), 206
 RPM, see Revolutions per minute (RPM) Running athletic shoes, 3, 66, 174 anatomy, past and present, 11 bottom, 13–14
   insole and sockliner, 15
   outsole, 14–15
   upper, 12–13
   wedges, 14
   balance and intelligent design, 5–6 beginnings of Nike shoes, 6
   Brooks Company, 6
   classification, 174
   cushioning, 175
   motion control, 175
   neutral, 175
   stability, 175
   components
     closure (lacing) system, 170
     midsole, 170
     outsole, 170
     sock liner/foot-bed, 170–171

- Running athletic shoes (cont.)
- upper, 170
  - curve-lasted shoes, 171
  - custom running orthoses
    - accommodations, 149
    - shell modifications of, 148
  - Dassler Brothers in making, 5
  - design characteristics, 169–170
  - features of, 137, 146
  - injuries
    - achilles tendonitis, 149
    - anterior shin splints, 150
    - functional hallux limitus, 149
    - plantar fasciitis, 149
    - posterior shin splints, 150
    - runner's knee, 150
  - long distance, modification of, 171–172
  - midsole, role of, 172
  - outsole technology, 172
  - Reebok shoes, 4–5
  - revolution of, 4
  - selection, 175
    - foot orthoses, suitability, 177
    - forefoot flexibility, 176
    - heel counter stiffness, 176
    - lacing system, 176–177
    - last shape, 176
    - midfoot torsional stability, 176
    - neutral position, 176
    - outsole traction design, 177
    - rules for, 176
    - upper side-to-side stability, 176
  - selection for
    - flatfoot arch, 145
    - high arch, 145
    - normal arch, 145
  - socks, 147–148
  - stabilizers and support components, 172
  - Tiger Shoes and ASICS, 5
  - types, 147
  - U-shaped throat, 171–172
- Running foot
- classification of
    - cavus, 144
    - neutral, 144
    - pronated, 144
- Running gait
- forefoot and midfoot contact, 165
  - preswing phase, 165
  - propulsive/terminal stance, 165
  - stance phase, 163
    - initial contact phase, 164
    - loading phase, 164
    - midstance phase, 164–165
    - swing phase
      - initial phase, 165–166
      - midswing/double float, 165
      - terminal swing, 166
- S
- SALRE theory, see Subtalar joint axis location and rotational equilibrium (SALRE) theory
- Seamless socks, 71
- Seizure disorders, in cerebral palsy, 308
- Semirigid ankle braces, 120
- Semi-weightbearing casting method, 277
- Sesamoiditis, 42
- See also* Lower extremity pathology
- Shin splints, 279
- Shoelace-locking systems, 86–87
- Silver-impregnated X-static sock fibers, 73
- Single-layer synthetic fiber socks, 75
- Sinus tarsi syndrome, 25
- Skating, 247
  - biomechanical control, steps in
    - blade balance, 256–258
    - positioning of foot within boot, 254–255
  - case examples, on podiatric management of skater
    - moderate pronation, 260–261
    - moderate–severe pronation, 261–263
    - supinated pes cavus foot type, 263–264
  - clinical injury patterns, 253–254
  - custom foot orthosis for, 255
  - figure skates, 251
  - goalie skates, 249–250
  - hockey skate boot
    - blade, 248–249
    - skate boot, 247–248
  - ice skating, 247
  - in-line skating, 247, 250
  - power skating, biomechanics of, 252–253
  - skate boots functions, 247
  - speed skates, 252
- Skiing
- boot fitter, considerations by, 268
  - boot selection, by foot specialist, 268
  - custom footbeds and foot orthoses in ski boots, use of, 268
  - forefoot varus imbalance, 270
  - movements in, 267
  - performance of skier, factors affecting, 267
  - pre-existing injuries and fatigue, 267–268
  - ski boot designs, 268–269

- advanced, 270–271
    - tibial valgum, 269–270
    - tibial varum and
      - treatment of, 269
  - Sneaker, 217
  - Snowboarding
    - binding system for snowboarding, 272
    - falls and turns in, 271
    - injuries sustained by snowboarders, 271
    - snowboard boots designs, 272
  - Soccer
    - injuries and prevention
      - achilles tendonitis, 245
      - apophysitis, 244
      - inversion injuries, 245
      - plantar fasciitis, 244–245
      - soccer toe, 245
    - lower extremity biomechanics and
      - considerations of, 239–240
    - orthotic devices, in soccer shoe, 243–244
    - shin guards, 243
    - soccer shoe
      - detachable cleats, 241–242
      - hybrid, 242
      - indoor, 243
      - lacing system, 243
      - midsole, 243
      - molded shoes, 241
      - outsole material, 241
      - surface-specific shoes, 240
      - turfs, 242
      - upper materials in, 240–241
  - Socks for athlete, 178
    - clinical benefits of
      - friction blisters, 75–76
      - impact and pressure reduction, 74–75
    - construction and design, 180
    - design and construction, 69
      - crew, 70
      - mini-crew, 70
      - over-the-calf, 70
      - roll top, 70
    - fibers, 179–180
    - recommendations for, 77
    - role, 178
  - Spastic cerebral palsy, 315–316
  - Special Olympics, 307
  - Speedlaces lace-locking systems, 86
  - Spinal cord compression, in Down
    - syndrome, 308
  - Sport cycling shoes, 201–202
  - Sport-specific socks, 69
  - Stability shoes, 65
  - Standard ankle stirrup brace, 120
  - Stationary pressure mapping, 50
  - Step-wise approach for clinical orthosis
    - outcomes, 50
  - Stirrup ankle braces, 120–121
  - Store-bought insole, 91
  - Stress fracture, 42
    - of shaft of third metatarsal, 43
      - See also* Lower extremity pathology
  - Subtalar joint axis location and rotational
    - equilibrium (SALRE) theory, 24
  - Subtalar joint (STJ) neutral position, 21–22,
    - 165, 169
      - ground reaction force acting plantar, 23
      - laterally deviated, 24–25
      - medially deviated, posterior aspect of right
        - foot, 24–26
      - neutral theory, 167–168
      - normally positioned, 24–25
      - supination and pronation moments, 24–25
  - Supination, 315
  - Supination-related symptoms, 24
  - Supramalleolar ankle-foot orthosis
    - (SMO), 314
  - Swing phase, 37
- T
- Tailor's bunion, 45
    - See also* Lower extremity pathology
  - Tarsal tunnel syndrome (TTS), 108–109
    - See also* Orthotic therapy
  - TDC, see Top-dead-center (TDC)
  - Teijin fibers, 240
  - Terry loop pads sock, 70
  - Therapeutic hosiery, 69
  - Thermal plastic units (TPU)
    - for running shoe, 172
  - Thermolite sock fibers, 73
  - Thin-soled athletic shoes, 91
  - THOR LO Inc., sock company, 69
  - Tibiale externum, see Accessory navicular
    - tuberosity
  - Tinel's sign, 108
  - Tissue Stress Model, 26–27
  - Toe clips, 205
  - Toe-off stage, 37
  - “Too many toes” sign, 44
  - Top-dead-center (TDC), 166
  - TPU, see Thermal plastic units (TPU)
  - Transverse plane compensation, 38
  - Triathlon, 161
    - cycling shoe
      - components, 172–173

- Triathlon (cont.)
- heel post/pillar, 173–174
  - pedal and cleat systems, 178
  - selection, 177–178
  - stack height and toe break angle, 174
  - toe box and vamp shape, 173
- foot, biomechanic role
- motion theory, sagittal plane facilitation of, 168–169
  - preferred movement pathway theory, 169
  - STJ, neutral theory, 167–168
  - subtalar joint axis location and rotational equilibrium theory, 169
  - tissue stress theory, 168
- foot orthoses
- AFO, 180
  - CFO, 181
  - distal balancing platform, 183
  - heel cup depth, 184
  - and OTC devices, 180–181
  - pathology-specific, 182
  - width of, 183–184
- injuries, overuse, 161
- active propulsion forces, 163
  - cycling cadence and gearing resistance, 162
  - impact forces, 162–163
- power and recovery phases
- cycling, act, 166–167
- running shoes
- classification, 174–175
  - components, 170–171
  - curve-lasted shoes, 171
  - cushioning materials, 172
  - design characteristics, 169–170
  - midsole, role of, 172
  - outsole technology, 172
  - selection, 175–177
  - stabilizers and support components, 172
  - U-shaped throat, 171–172
  - single support and double float running gait, 163–165
  - socks, 178
    - construction and design, 180
    - fibers, 179–180
    - role, 179
- TTS, see Tarsal tunnel syndrome (TTS)
- Tube socks, 70
- Turfs shoes, 242
- U
- Ultrathin flexible graphite, 46
  - University of California Berkeley Laboratory (UCBL), 313
  - Urban rebounding, 286–287
- V
- Varus-wedged orthoses, 30
  - Velcro straps, 79
  - Video gait analysis, 144
- W
- Waffle sole, 57
  - Walking and running, clinical video data, 51
  - Walking shoes, 66
  - “Wet test,” 134
  - Wicking, 71
  - Wolfe’s law, 162
- X
- X-static sock fibers, 73–74
- Y
- Yankz! lace-locking systems, 86