

Author Biography

Patrick A. Narbel obtained his Ph.D. from the Norwegian School of Economics. He has researched the economics of energy, the efficiency of policy instruments facilitating the deployment of intermittent renewables and future prospects of these technologies. Patrick is a Senior Advisor at Sund Energy and a Council Member of the International Association for Energy Economics.

Jan Petter Hansen is a professor of the University of Bergen, Norway and adjoint professor of the the Norwegian School of Economics. At both places he is teaching basic physics related to energy. He has published more than 100 scientific papers and is currently a board member of he Norwegian Physical Society (NFS).

Jan R. Lien is professor emeritus from the University of Bergen, Norway. He has been teaching and doing research in both nuclear physics and petroleum technology and has several research terms abroad. He is a member of the Society of Petroleum Engineers (SPE) and the Norwegian Physical Society (NFS).