

Authors:

Prof. Norbert Kersting currently holds the Willy Brandt chair on transformation and regional integration (DAAD) at Stellenbosch University, South Africa. He has taught at the German Universities of Marburg, Landau and Kassel. His published books include Die Zukunft der lokalen Demokratie (Future of local democracy), Campus, 2004). He has also co-edited Reforming local government in Europe (VS-Verlag-URI series, 2003), Electronic democracy and development 2004 (Palgrave, 2004), Poverty and democracy (Zed Books 2003), Democratization and political culture in comparative perspective (VS-Verlag, 2005), and Politische Beteiligung ("Political participation", VS-Verlag, 2008)

Dr. Janice Caulfield was, until recently, Associate Professor in the Department of Politics and Administration at the University of Hong Kong. She has published widely on local government reform, including co-editing Local Government at the Millennium (VS-Verlag, 2002) the first edition in this URI series. She has been an advisor to governments on administrative reform, both in Australia, Asia and in East Africa. She is currently a freelance consultant in Public Management and Administration

Prof. R. Andrew Nickson is Reader in Public Management at the International Development Department at the University of Birmingham where he directs the Masters programme in Governance and Development Management. He has had long-term attachments to government agencies in Sierra Leone, Peru and Nepal. From 1992-98 he directed a European Union training program for senior public administrators in Latin America. His books include Local Government in Latin America (Lynne Rienner, 1995), The transition to democracy in Paraguay (Macmillan, 1997) and Tapping the market: the challenge of institutional reform in the urban water supply sector (Palgrave Macmillan, 2003).

Prof. Dele Olowu was formerly at Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife, Nigeria and Institute of Social Studies, The Hague, Netherlands. Presently he is an international consultant. He has advised several organizations focused on Africa such as the United Nations Economic Commission for Africa and the African Development Bank. His previous publications include The Failure of the State (ICS, 1990/1995), Perspectives on African Governance (Trenton, 2000), Local Governance in Africa (Lynne Rienner 2004)

Prof. Hellmut Wollmann is professor emeritus at professor (emeritus) of Public Policy and Public Administration at Social Science Institute of Humboldt University, Berlin, Germany. His work has focussed on comparative local politics and government in European countries (including Russia) and evaluation research. He is editor of the book series Urban Regional Research International. He published extensively articles and books on local government in Europe such as Comparing Public Sector Reform in Britain and Germany (Ashgate, 2000), Local democracy in post communist Europe (VS Verlag, 2003) and Local government reforms in Great Britain, Sweden, Germany and France. (VS-Verlag, 2008)