

About the Authors

Boumans, Jak (BA, MDiv.) is principal consultant with Electronic Media Reporting in Utrecht (The Netherlands), which is specialised in content strategy. He worked previously for TNO Centre for Technology and Policy Studies and the publishers Wegener, VNU and Kluwer. He is author of several books and many articles for national and international trade magazines and has been a member in several juries for multimedia competitions (EPPY Awards, EUROPRIX, Europrix Top Talent Awards). He is General Secretary of the European Academy of Digital Media (EADiM), member of the World Summit Award board, and also member of the Slovakian Academy of Communication.

E-Mail: jak@euronet.nl

Bruck, Peter A. (MA, Dr. iur., PhD) is Head of the Research Studios at ARC Seibersdorf Research, the most eminent research institution in Austria. He has over 25 years of consulting experience in the area of media, communications and IT. He earned degrees in law, sociology, and communications and received numerous awards and fellowships in Europe, the US, and Canada. Overall, he has founded, built up and headed research institutes at three universities and has been senior partner in ICRA International Communications Research Associates, Ottawa (Canada). He is Chairman of the Advisory Committee on Media Diversity of the Council of Europe, has been principal researcher in numerous EC funded projects and initiated the EUROPRIX, Europe's leading multimedia award, as well as the World Summit Award. He is also honorary President of the International Centre for New Media in Salzburg (Austria), and Chairman of the Board of the European Academy of Digital Media (The Netherlands).

E-Mail: bruck@research.at

Buchholz, Andrea (MA, PhD) has been project manager of the EC-funded ACTeN project at MFG Baden-Württemberg, Stuttgart (Germany) from 2002–2004. Prior to this she studied computer science (University of Hamburg, Germany) and then turned to the social scientific study of new technologies (University of Edinburgh, Brunel University in West London, UK). She graduated in 2001 at the Department of Human Sciences at Brunel University with a PhD thesis on users in the virtual university. Furthermore, she worked as a lecturer and as a researcher in a German university project.

E-Mail: andrea.buchholz@gmx.net

Hartmann, Bernd (MA, Dipl.-Germ.) is currently working as Junior Project Manager for MFG Baden-Württemberg, Stuttgart (Germany). Prior to this, he interned in numerous companies of the cultural and media sector. He studied Journalism, Literature, and Business Administration and holds degrees from the University of Bamberg, Germany, and the University of Waterloo, Canada. He recently published a book on the narrativity of Computer Games.

E-Mail: hartmann@mfg.de

Karssen, Zeger worked as an researcher for IT companies and for the University of Amsterdam, after which he got involved in several companies related to the creation of contents for the Internet. Since 1997, he is working for Digital Dispatch in Paris, specialising in consultancy for E-Publishing strategy and delivery. In 2000, Zeger started to work as a publisher of scientific journals and books, both appearing in print and online. He also works for the European Commission as an evaluator of proposals and ongoing projects concerning electronic publishing and E-Commerce.

Email: zkarssen@digit-dispatch.com

Nagy, Attila is an ICT specialist in the area of training and education working in Budapest (Hungary) and Leuven (Belgium). He has participated in various development projects of web based applications and distributed database design and implementation, both for academic institution and for the industry. He also has strong experiences in multimedia enriched learning content development. He had worked in various non-governmental organisations and companies in Belgium, Hungary, and in The Netherlands.

E-Mail: nattila@enternet.hu

Orava, Janne (MSc Econ.) is a researcher at the Center for Knowledge and Innovation Research (CKIR) at the Helsinki School of Economics (Finland). Previously, he has worked as a researcher at LTT Research Ltd, as a product manager and sales manager at Smartner Information Systems Ltd, and as a consultant at Adcore Finland. He has done several research and market analysis reports and business projects on topics related to digital TV, digital communities, mobile and Internet services and portals.

E-Mail: janne.orava@hkkk.fi

Pelkonen, Tommi (MSc Econ.) is a researcher at the Helsinki School of Economics (Finland). He has worked as management consultant specialising in mobile telecommunications, internationalisation, and business strategy formulation at Satama Interactive, a European digital services firm. He also has professional experience as project manager and senior researcher at LTT-Research Ltd analyzing the developments in the Finnish interactive service provision markets. This topic forms also the theme of his doctoral dissertation. Pelkonen has authored several publications of the Finnish digital media landscape.

E-Mail: pelkonen@hkkk.fi

Perttula, Mika (BSc Econ.) is a consultant in his own consultancy company, Unique Element Ltd., and a researcher at LTT Research Ltd., Helsinki (Finland). Previously, he has worked as a director of Professional Services at Smartner Information Systems Ltd and as a project manager at Adcore Finland. He has done several research, market analysis and business development projects for Finnish companies on topics related to digital TV, software business, mobile and Internet services.

E-Mail: mika.perttula@hkkk.fi

Sandhu, Swaran (Dipl. rer. com., MSc) is Head of Innovation Management/Research Management at MFG Baden-Württemberg, Stuttgart (Germany) and responsible for EU projects as well as research transfer projects. Prior to his current position he worked at the University of Hohenheim as a research assistant and also as freelance communication consultant. He holds degrees in Communication Studies and Public Relations from the University of Hohenheim, Germany, and Syracuse University, NY.

E-Mail: sandhu@mfg.de

Werkhoven, Peter (MSc, PhD) is director of Knowledge at TNO, Delft (The Netherlands), one of the largest research and technology organisations of Europe. Since 2001, he is also full professor in Multimedia Interaction of the Intelligent Sensory Information Systems group at the University of Amsterdam (in part-time). He has significant research experience in the area of human perception, Virtual Reality and information processing and previously held positions at Utrecht University and New York University. He has published over 40 scientific papers and over 30 scientific TNO-reports on contract research.

E-Mail: peter.werkhoven@tno.nl

Zerfass, Ansgar (Dr. rer. pol., Dipl.-Kfm.) is a Member of the Management Board of MFG Baden-Württemberg, Stuttgart (Germany). He is responsible for communication, professional training, internet, and research teams at MFG and holds several honorary positions in branch associations and academic bodies. Ansgar Zerfass graduated in business administration and communication sciences. He has 15 years of professional experience in corporate communications, as a publisher, university lecturer and as consultant to the state's government. He has received renowned awards both for his academic work (several books, about 90 articles) and his communication programmes.

E-Mail: zerfass@mfg.de