

IIAS Series: Governance and Public Management

International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS) – *Improving Administrative Sciences Worldwide

The International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS) is an NGO with scientific purpose which was established in 1930 and whose seat is still in Brussels.

The Institute is a worldwide platform providing a space for exchanges that promote knowledge and practices to improve the organization and operation of public administration and to ensure that public agencies will be in a position to better respond to the current and future expectations and needs of society.

It thus provides a forum where practical experiences and theoretical analyses of experts (academics and practitioners) in public administration worldwide and from all cultures are presented and discussed.

To cover the diversity of its members, the IIAS has set up four sub-entities:

- The EGPA (European Group for Public Administration)
- The IASIA (International Association of Schools and Institutes of Administration)
- The LAGPA (Latin American Group for Public Administration)
- The AGPA (Asian Group for Public Administration)

Website: <http://www.iias-iisa.org>

Governance and Public Management Series

Series edited by:

Robert Fouchet, Insitute of Public Management and Territorial Governance, Aix-Marseille University, France

Taco Brandsen, Radboud Universiteit Nijmegen (The Netherlands)

Editorial Series Committee

Robert Fouchet, Directeur des Publications, IISA – IIAS Publications Director
Masahiro Horie, Président du Comité Scientifique et des Programmes, IISA – IIAS Programme and Research Advisory Committee Chair

Rolet Loretan, Directeur général de l'IISA – IIAS Director General

Taco Brandsen, Membre – Member, GEAP-EGPA

Juraj Nemec, Membre – Member, AIEIA-IASIA

Rommel Rosas, Membre – Member, GLAAP-LAGPA

Zhiyong Lan, Membre – Member, GAAP-AGPA

Andrew Massey, Membre – Member, Rédacteur en Chef de la RISA-IRAS Editor in Chief

Fabienne Maron, Conseiller scientifique de l'IISA-IIAS Scientific Administrator
Coordinatrice des Publications – Publications Coordinator

The Governance and Public Management series, published in conjunction with the International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS), brings the best research in public administration and management to the global audience. Encouraging a diversity of approach and perspective, the series reflects the Institute's conviction for a neutral and objective voice, grounded in the exigency of fact. How is governance conducted now? How could it be done better? What defines the law of administration and the management of public affairs, and can their implementation be enhanced? Such questions lie behind the Institute's core value of accountability: those who exercise authority must account for its use – to those on whose behalf they act.

Titles in the series include:

Taco Brandsen, Willem Trommel and Bram Verschuere (editors)

MANUFACTURING CIVIL SOCIETY

Principles, Practices and Effects

Pekka Valkama, Stephen J. Bailey and Ari-Veikko Anttiroiko (editors)

ORGANIZATIONAL INNOVATION IN PUBLIC SERVICES

Forms and Governance

Victor Bekkers, Jurian Edelenbos, and Bram Steijn (editors)

INNOVATION IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR

Linking Capacity and Leadership

Michiel S. De Vries

THE IMPORTANCE OF NEGLECT IN POLICY-MAKING

Michiel S. De Vries, P.S. Reddy, and M. Shamsul Haque (editors)

IMPROVING LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Outcomes of Comparative Research

Michiel S. De Vries and Pan Suk Kim (editors)

VALUE AND VIRTUE IN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

A Comparative Perspective

Wouter Van Dooren and Steven Van de Walle (editors)

PERFORMANCE INFORMATION IN THE PUBLIC SECTOR

Per Lægreid and Koen Verhoest (editors)

GOVERNANCE OF PUBLIC SECTOR ORGANIZATIONS

Proliferation, Autonomy and Performance

Eberhard Bohne

THE WORLD TRADE ORGANIZATION

Institutional Development and Reform

---

Governance and Public Management Series

Series Standing Order ISBN 978-0230-50655-8 (hardback) 978-0230-50656-5 (paperback)

You can receive future titles in this series as they are published by placing a standing order. Please contact your bookseller or, in case of difficulty, write to us at the address below with your name and address, the title of the series and one of the ISBNs quoted above.

Customer Services Department, Macmillan Distribution Ltd, Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS, England

---

Manufacturing Civil Society

Principles, Practices and Effects

Edited by

Taco Brandsen

Professor of Comparative Public Administration, Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands

Willem Trommel

Professor of Public Policy and Governance, Faculty of Social Sciences, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam, the Netherlands

and

Bram Verschuere

Assistant Professor of Public Management, Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, University of Ghent, Belgium

palgrave
macmillan

Selection, introduction and editorial matter © Taco Brandsen,
Bram Verschuere and Willem Trommel 2014
Remaining chapters © Respective authors 2014
Softcover reprint of the hardcover 1st edition 2014 978-1-137-35162-3

All rights reserved. No reproduction, copy or transmission of this publication may be made without written permission.

No portion of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted save with written permission or in accordance with the provisions of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, or under the terms of any licence permitting limited copying issued by the Copyright Licensing Agency, Saffron House, 6–10 Kirby Street, London EC1N 8TS.

Any person who does any unauthorized act in relation to this publication may be liable to criminal prosecution and civil claims for damages.

The authors have asserted their rights to be identified as the authors of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

First published 2014 by
PALGRAVE MACMILLAN

Palgrave Macmillan in the UK is an imprint of Macmillan Publishers Limited, registered in England, company number 785998, of Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS.

Palgrave Macmillan in the US is a division of St Martin's Press LLC, 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010.

Palgrave Macmillan is the global academic imprint of the above companies and has companies and representatives throughout the world.

Palgrave® and Macmillan® are registered trademarks in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe and other countries

ISBN 978-1-349-46891-1      ISBN 978-1-137-35163-0 (eBook)
DOI 10.1057/9781137351630

This book is printed on paper suitable for recycling and made from fully managed and sustained forest sources. Logging, pulping and manufacturing processes are expected to conform to the environmental regulations of the country of origin.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

A catalog record for this book is available from the Library of Congress.

Contents

List of Figures	vii
List of Tables	viii
Notes on Contributors	x
1 Manufacturing Civil Society: An Introduction Taco Brandsen, Bram Verschuere and Willem Trommel	1
2 'You're Either with Us or against Us': Manufacturing Civility in the Netherlands Rik Peeters	15
3 Diversity and Ambiguity in the English Third Sector: Responding to Contracts and Competition in Public Service Delivery Jenny Harlock	34
4 How Viable Is the Big Society? Perceptions from Environmental NGOs in the United Kingdom Rory Shand and Roger Higman	54
5 Civil Society Organisations as a Government Steering Mechanism: A Comparison between Sport Associations and Patient Organisations in the Netherlands Maikel Waardenburg and Hester van de Bovenkamp	70
6 New Forms of Dependency in Central and Eastern Europe? Reflections on State–Third Sector Relations in Public Service Provision in Post-Communist Countries Roxana Radu and Daniel Pop	96
7 New Challenges for the Cooperation between Civil Society and the Public Sector: The National Voluntary Service in Germany Annelie Beller and Rabea Haß	116
8 Public Governance of Welfare Services in Italy Simona Franzoni	136

9	The Autonomy of Organised Civil Society in Strategic Policy Decision-Making: A Resource-Dependence Perspective Joris De Corte and Bram Verschuere	159
10	Controlling or Empowering Non-Profit Organisations?: Dimensions of Accountability in Singapore Ora-orn Poocharoen and Fazlin Abdullah	182
11	Active Citizenship: From Panacea to Political Program – In Search of an Appealing Narrative Hans Boutellier	206
	Index	223

List of Figures

7.1	Development of total amount of volunteers from July 2011 to January 2013	122
7.2	Distribution of volunteers over age groups in % as of 2 January 2013	122
10.1	Dimensions of accountability	188

List of Tables

5.1	Government influence on sport associations and patient organisations	89
6.1	Overview of ESF funding for selected countries from CEE (2007–2013)	107
6.2	Contractors of ESF projects for education in selected CEE countries	108
7.1	Comparison of main characteristics of different services	120
8.1	Response rates of Planning Offices divided by Province in Lombardy Region	144
8.2	Response rates of Planning Offices divided by Province in Emilia Romagna Region	144
8.3	Non-profit organisations that answered divided by Province in Lombardy Region	145
8.4	Non-profit organisations that answered divided by Province in Emilia Romagna Region	145
8.5	The meaning of network governance according to Planning Offices	146
8.6	The elements for network governance effectiveness according to Planning Offices	146
8.7	The most important actor in the governance of welfare services by Planning Offices	147
8.8	Third-sector weight in network governance by the third sector (Lombardy Region)	147
8.9	Third-sector weight in the network governance by the third sector (Emilia Romagna Region)	148
8.10	Participation in District Planning according to the third sector	149
8.11	Evaluation of the third sector in 2009–2011 welfare planning	149
8.12	The activities of non-profit organisations in District Welfare Planning	150
8.13	The limited participation in welfare planning of the third sector by the third sector	151
8.14	The limited participation of the third sector in welfare planning by Planning Offices	152

8.15	Future prospects for public governance by Planning Offices	153
8.16	Future prospects for public governance by the third sector	154
9.1	Degree of organisational autonomy in strategic decision-making processes	168
9.2	Results for bivariate analysis between independent variables and NPOs' autonomy (dependent-variable) by means of One-Way ANOVA	170
9.3	Composition of research sample of Flemish NPOs	176
9.4	Descriptive results for independent variables related to characteristics of the relationship with governments	177
9.5	Descriptive results for independent variables (ANOVA test) related to organisational characteristics	177
9.6	Factor analysis–dependent variable	178
10.1	NPOs interviewed	192

Notes on Contributors

Fazlin Abdullah is Assistant Director of Disabilities Services at the National Council of Social Services, Singapore. She obtained her master's degree in Public Administration at Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore, where she was a Lien Foundation–NCSS scholar. She graduated from the programme in 2012 and was on the Dean's List. Prior to entering graduate school she served as head of various non-profit organisations, particularly Women's Organisations, in Singapore and New Zealand.

Annelie Beller is a consultant at the Berlin-based consultancy gfa | public GmbH where she works with clients from the third and the public sectors. Prior to embarking on a career in management consulting, she was a research associate at the Centre for Social Investment (CSI) of Heidelberg University. During her time at the CSI she was involved in various research projects. Her work focuses on issues of volunteering, accountability, philanthropy and social impact. She holds a master's degree in Sociology, Political Science, Personnel and Organizational Development from Heidelberg University.

Hans Boutellier is Executive Director of the Verwey-Jonker Institute, the Netherlands, and Chair in Safety, Security and Citizenship at the Faculty of Social Sciences VU University Amsterdam, the Netherlands. He is the author of Crime and Morality (2000), Safety Utopia; Contemporary Discontents and Desire as to Crime and Punishment (2005) and most recently The Improvising Society. He has also published numerous articles on public morality, community safety and criminal justice. His research focuses on the relations between democracy, social policy and security issues in a network society.

Hester van de Bovenkamp is Assistant Professor in Public Administration at the Institute of Health Policy and Management, Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands. She obtained her master's degree in Public Administration at Utrecht University and her PhD from Erasmus University Rotterdam in Citizen Participation, which remains a key area of her research. Her articles have appeared in the Journal of Health Politics Policy, Public Administration and Health Policy.

Taco Brandsen is Professor of Comparative Public Administration at Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands; Secretary-General of EAPAA (European Association of Public Administration Accreditation); and board member of the EGPA, EMES and IRSPM research networks. His research interests include service delivery, innovation and co-production. His latest publications include New Public Governance, the Third Sector and Co-Production (2012, with Victor Pestoff and Bram Verschuere) and Civiness in the Governance and Delivery of Social Services (2010, with Adalbert Evers and Paul Dekker).

Joris De Corte received a master's degree in Political Sciences from Ghent University and is currently a doctoral candidate at the Department of Social Welfare Studies at Ghent University. His main research interests are in state–non-profit relationships, welfare policy and public management. In his research he focuses on governance networks between the public sector and private welfare organisations for the purpose of social service delivery. Special attention is given to the role of local governments in creating and managing these networks and the impact this collaboration has on the quality and accessibility of social services for citizens.

Simona Franzoni is Associate Professor of Business Administration and Management at Brescia University, Italy. She holds the Chair in 'Managerial accounting for-profit, non-profit and public organisations'. She is a member of the International Research Society on Public Management (IRSPM), European Business Ethics Network (EBEN) and Italian Academy of Business Administration (AIDEA). Her work focuses on issues of public governance, modernisation of public services and performance analysis.

Rabea Haß is Research Associate at the Hertie School of Governance and at the Center for Social Investment of Heidelberg University. Her current research focuses on issues of volunteering, civil society in reform processes, and transparency and accountability in the non-profit sector. In former positions and in her PhD project she gained expertise in the field of civil–military relations, risk management and resilience. She received a master's degree in Peace and Conflict Studies from Marburg University.

Jenny Harlock is Research Fellow at the Health Services Management Centre, University of Birmingham, UK. She received her PhD in Social Policy, funded by the Economic Social Research Council (ESRC), from the University of Bath in 2011. From 2009 to 2012 she was a Programme Manager for the Department of Health (DH) Voluntary Sector Strategic Partnership Programme, and previously led ESRC funded research into the implications of Personalisation for the third sector for the National Council of Voluntary Organisations in England. From 2012 she was Research Fellow at the Third Sector Research Centre (TSRC). Her research has focused on governance, public service delivery and the third sector, with a particular focus on changes in health and social care. Her latest work includes research into Social Value models of public sector commissioning with the third sector, and a three year (NIHR funded) study of de-commissioning healthcare services in the English NHS.

Roger Higman is a freelance environmental consultant and Honorary Research Fellow at the Institute for Sustainability Solutions Research, Plymouth, UK. He worked for 20 years for Friends of the Earth as an environmental campaigner and strategic manager, during which time he acquired extensive skills in strategic management, team leadership, programme and project management, knowledge acquisition and handling, communications and relationship-building. He is particularly interested in promoting public understanding of our dependence on the environment; programmes to speed up the deployment of green technologies and practices; ways of encouraging the growth of green businesses, and new ways of helping individuals to green their lifestyles. He is currently engaged on a project looking into the opportunities and threats posed to the environment by the government's Big Society agenda.

Rik Peeters is a researcher and lecturer at Tilburg University and advisor at the Kafka-brigade, a The Hague-based research team dedicated to tackling bureaucratic dysfunction and red tape. His research focuses on transformations in the relations between state, society and citizens. His research interests include governance strategies in crime policy, education policy and welfare policy. He received his master's degrees in Public Administration from Tilburg University and in Political Philosophy from Radboud University Nijmegen. In 2013, he received his PhD from Tilburg University for his doctoral dissertation, 'The Preventive Gaze: How Prevention Transforms our Understanding of the State'.

Ora-orn Poocharoen is Assistant Professor at the Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, National University of Singapore. She received her PhD in Public Administration from the Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs, Syracuse University. She has a Master of Law degree from the University of Tokyo in Political Science. She has contributed to a number of journals and edited collections, including the Review of Public Personnel Administration and the Routledge Handbook of Public Policy. She is currently engaged in research projects on talent management in the public sector, the role and power of city mayors, public participation in budgeting, and public participation in development projects in Thailand.

Daniel Pop is a political economist. He obtained his PhD in Political Science from Central European University, Budapest. He has been an associate lecturer at the Babes-Bolyai University Faculty of Political Science since 2003. Between 2003 and 2008 he led the Romanian Public Policy Centre, a research think tank. In 2008, he joined the Education Support Program and since June 2010 he has been based at the Ethnocultural Diversity Resource Center in Cluj, where he directs policy research initiatives within the Open Society Extended Education Network and also leads ESP efforts to build networks of commitment and the strengthening of new forms of civil activism. He has initiated and led several research fellowship programmes and contributed to the design and implementation of major international research undertakings. He has also contributed to and published over 20 volumes and research papers.

Roxana Radu is a PhD candidate in International Relations/Political Science at the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies, Geneva, Switzerland. She holds a master's degree in Political Science from Central European University, Budapest, where she received the Best Thesis Award in 2010. Since 2009, she has been a research fellow of the Education Support Program of the Open Society Foundations, focusing on educational policies and parental involvement in school life, as well as on public–third sector relations in Southeast Europe. Her research interests include civil society empowerment, social uses of new technologies and educational governance.

Rory Shand is Lecturer in Public Policy and Management and Associate Head of School (Research) for the School of Government at Plymouth University, UK. His research interests focus on governance and urban regeneration initiatives that have led him to work with the Department for Communities and Local Government (DCLG) and various think tanks. His most recent publication is Governing Sustainable Urban Renewal: Partnerships in Action (2013). He has also contributed to numerous journals and collections. He is currently the national Vice-Chair for Teaching and Learning for the Public Administration Committee (UK) and Deputy Director of the Centre for Research in Sustainable Leadership, Governance and Policy (SLGP) at Plymouth University.

Willem Trommel is Professor of Public Policy and Governance at VU University Amsterdam, the Netherlands. His research focuses on the organisation and quality of public governance, with special attention to topics in safety and security and the welfare state. Recent books include Crafting Local Welfare Landscapes (2014) and Greedy Governance (2009).

Bram Verschuere is Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration at Ghent University, Belgium. His main research and teaching interests are in public management, public sector organisation, state–non-profit relationships and welfare policy. His latest books are New Public Governance, the Third Sector and Co-Production (2012, with Victor Pestoff and Taco Brandsen), Autonomy and Control of State Agencies: Comparing States and Agencies (2010, with Koen Verhoest, Paul Roness, Kristin Rubecksen and Muiris McCarthaigh) and Re-thinking the State: Critical Perspectives on the Citizen, Politics and Government in the 21st Century (2009, with Filip De Rynck and Ellen Wayenberg).

Maikel Waardenburg lectures at Utrecht University's School of Governance, where he received master's degrees in both Public Administration and Organizational Science and in Sport Policy and Sport Management. He is now a PhD candidate. His research focuses on the instrumentalisation of the relationship between government and voluntary sport organisations, conflict in organisations, sport policy development, organisational ethnography and interpretive methodology. He has been involved in a project focusing on the contribution of playgrounds to social cohesion in urban neighbourhoods. Recent work includes a co-edited book on developments in voluntary sport clubs and an article on sport policy in the Netherlands in the International Journal of Sport Policy and Politics.