Preface

The aim of this book is to help you to prepare for your 'A' level Biology examinations. In doing this, it differs from most other study guides and revision guides by giving you actual answers to questions rather than guidance as to how to approach the questions.

It has been the authors' experience as teachers and examiners that what examination candidates really need to see are actual answers. These answers are not to be taken as 'definitive' answers. They are not necessarily the only answers which could satisfactorily answer the questions. To this extent they are not to be considered as 'model' answers. At 'A' level it is doubtful if there is such a thing.

The authors and publishers also wish to thank the following who have kindly given permission for the use of copyright material:

The Associated Examining Board, the Joint Matriculation Board, the Northern Ireland Schools Examination Council, the Oxford and Cambridge Schools Examination Board, the Scottish Examination Board, the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate, the University of London Schools Examinations Board and the University of Oxford Delegacy of Local Examinations for questions from past examination papers.

Every effort has been made to trace all the copyright holders but if any have been inadvertently overlooked the publishers will be pleased to make the necessary arrangement at the first opportunity.

The University of London Entrance and School Examinations Council accepts no responsibility whatsoever for the accuracy or method in the answers given in this book to actual questions set by the London Board.

Acknowledgement is made to the Southern Universities' Joint Board for School Examinations for permission to use questions taken from their past papers but the Board is in no way responsible for answers that may be provided and they are solely the responsibility of the authors.

The Associated Examining Board, the University of Oxford Delegacy of Local Examinations, the Northern Ireland Schools Examination Council, the University of Cambridge Local Examinations Syndicate and the Scottish Examination Board wish to point out that worked examples included in the text are entirely the responsibility of the authors and have been neither provided nor approved by the Board.
