Data General advancing imaginative applications in financial systems.

Today's complex financial markets mean only the right information system can make the right connections.

To achieve this Norwich Union, Phillips & Drew, Shearson Lehman Brothers, were among those who turned to Data General.

Data General responded with systems tailored to a client's real needs. Effectively, systems that mean the difference between dealing in profit or dealing in the dark.

Such is Hydra," a fail-safe system which combines external market information with in-house data and distributes it to any number of dealing desks.

As one user says, "...it allows us to do things we didn't even know we needed to do."

IT'S OUR INNOVATIVE APPROACH THAT PRODUCES SUCH MIMPRESSIVE RESULTS.

At MIM Limited we believe that innovation is one of the keys to successful investment trust management.

We are constantly examining new approaches to investment policy. New ways of utilising our fund managers' expertise.

We are the managers of the first 'split-level' investment trusts, with shares offering investors the choice of income or capital growth.

We were also among the first to foresee the potential of development capital investment. Both Consolidated Venture Trust and Drayton Consolidated Trust have significant emphasis on the unlisted sector, and on smaller listed companies with active growth programmes.

Yet another example of our innovation is that we were one of the first to invest in Japan. We manage the largest specialist Japanese investment trust - Drayton Japan - which is among the top performers in its category.

The one thing that isn't new is our consistent performance. Check the performance of the eight investment trusts in our care, with assets totalling over £700 million, and you'll see that our claim is well justified.

In 1985 we were awarded the Money Observer 'Best Large Trust Manager', and 'Best Large Trust Group' accolades. And now Wood Mackenzie have ranked us second out of the twenty major investment trust management groups for our net asset value performance in 1986.

For more facts on our innovative approach and performance record, call Malcolm Callaghan on 01-626 3434. Or write to MIM Limited,
