Issues in Mental Health

Series Editor: Jo Campling

The care and status of persons with mental health problems has been identified as one of the key issues in health and society in the 1990s.

This series of books has been commissioned to give a multi-disciplinary perspective: legal, medical, psychiatric and social work aspects of mental health will be covered. There is also an international perspective: wherever possible, books will compare developments in a range of different countries.

MIND is the leading mental health organisation in England and Wales. It works for a better life for people diagnosed, labelled or treated as mentally ill. It does this through campaigning, influencing government policy, training, education and service provision. Throughout its work MIND reflects its awareness of black and ethnic communities, and draws on the expertise of people with direct experience as providers and users of mental health services.

The points of view expressed in this publication do not necessarily reflect MIND policy.
