Acknowledgements

I owe very particular thanks to the community organisations who shared their experiences, and especially so to the Afro-Caribbean Organisation, Alexandra and Ainsworth, Kilburn Vale and Highgate Newtown Tenants Organisations, Camden Federation of Tenants and Residents, Ferguslie League of Action Groups, and the Pinehurst People's Centre.

Many thanks, too, to colleagues at Ruskin College, Oxford, and the William Temple Foundation, Manchester, who worked together on the Communities in Crisis programmes of community education, experiences which raised a number of the questions that appear in this book.

I should also like to thank a number of individuals who commented upon drafts of specific chapters and made extremely constructive criticisms and suggestions, including Bill Bryant, Richard Bryant, Pauline Conroy, David Marsden and Ines Newman. Any remaining errors are, of course, mine.

My thanks, too, to Jo Campling, who as editor has been consistently supportive and constructive, as well as personally encouraging, and to Frances Arnold and Keith Povey.

And last but by no means least, my thanks to Laurence, Clyde and Scarlet Harris, whose support has included the most patient assistance and encouragement in combating my technophobia with the word processor, and to Sue Coles, who then took on the task of turning the draft into a more professionally presented typescript.
