

Leaders Need Followers

You have a daily choice whether you will act or be acted upon. Building followers for your cause doesn't have to be difficult. There are simple things you can do as you set out to "become" something in or with your organization. This process involves appetizers before entrees, eating babies, doctors, preaching failure, MVS, and choosing a path. Don't worry—the babies thing is more about cannibalism than it is babies. Sorry, that probably didn't help alleviate the worry. Maybe just keep reading and it will make sense.
