

When the Land Meets the Sea

An ACUA and SHA Series

Volume 3

Series editors

Annalies Corbin, PAST Foundation, Columbus, OH, USA

J.W. Joseph, New South Associates, Inc., Stone Mountain, GA, USA

More information about this series at <http://www.springer.com/series/8370>

Brad Duncan · Martin Gibbs

Please God Send Me a Wreck

Responses to Shipwreck in a 19th Century
Australian Community

Brad Duncan
University of New England
Armidale, NSW
Australia

Martin Gibbs
University of New England
Armidale, NSW
Australia

ISSN 1869-6783

When the Land Meets the Sea

ISBN 978-1-4939-2641-1

DOI 10.1007/978-1-4939-2642-8

ISSN 1869-6791 (electronic)

ISBN 978-1-4939-2642-8 (eBook)

Library of Congress Control Number: 2015935218

Springer New York Heidelberg Dordrecht London

© Springer Science+Business Media New York 2015

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are reserved by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made.

Printed on acid-free paper

Springer Science+Business Media LLC New York is part of Springer Science+Business Media
(www.springer.com)

This book is dedicated to: Christer Westerdahl for showing us a different way to look at maritime communities.

The people/community of Queenscliffe, who opened their doors and memories to us on many occasions to recount their stories and knowledge of their region. We could not have done it without you. Queenscliffe is a wonderful place!

Finally, to our families—Tracey, Emily and Liam, and Melissa, Eliza and William, who inspired us to get this work finished.

Acknowledgments

Where do we begin! So many people deserve credit for their contributions to this book. This project relied heavily on the collection of oral histories, and we owe the people of Queenscliff a huge debt of gratitude for opening their hearts and homes to a complete stranger to speak of their personal experiences, and without whose backing this book would still be a series of scribbled ideas on some scraps of paper. The following people kindly shared their knowledge of the study area and/or other aspects of interest during oral history interviews/discussions: Adrian Higgenbotham, Alex Caie, Alex Gianuzzi, Bill Ethol, Bill Mitchell, Bill Richardson, Bob Marmion, Brian Marra, Cecil and Marjorie Anderson, Craig Elstone, Carl Paolini, Colin Shapter, Colin Springall, Dawn Beames, Dave Giblett, Don Love, Dianne Smitt, Eric Langenburg, Geoff Ferrier, Geoff and Helen Henderson, Greg Hodge, Gus Rogers, George Werry, Graeme Wilson, Helen Forrest, Harry Gorfine, Harry Mouchmore, Henry Hudson, Ira Savage, Jill Barnard, Jim Anderson, John Adams, John (Jack) Beazley, Jocelyn Grant, Jon Jenson, Joan Mather, Jocelyn Grant, John Patrick, Judy Scurfield, Jeff Yugovic, Kieran Hosty, Lauchlan Jackson, Laurance Barras, Lewis Ferrier, Les Irving- Dusting, Lester Hunt, Lauchlan Jackson, Lyall Mills, Lyall Zanoni, Margaret Wright, Mike Etzel, Mark Rodrigues, Mark Staniforth, Malcom Venturoni, Margaret Wright, Neville Walsh, Peter Ferrier, Peter Harvey, Peter Munster, Peter Ronald, Peter Taylor, Ross Anderson, Robert Beames, Rod Fenton, Ron Green, Roy Lawson, Sandra Johnson, Scott Allen, Stan Evans, Steve Hughes, Steve Smithyman, Sydney Wright, Terry Arnott and Wendy Naylor.

Over 40 people assisted with surveys and recording during six seasons of fieldwork, some of whose names I did not unfortunately record, especially students from the Flinders University Field School. I am very grateful to the following volunteers who helped out during archaeological fieldwork: Aiden Ash, Bob Marmion, Brad Williams, Cassandra Philippou, Chris Lewczack, Corioli Souter, Dianne Smitt, Don Love, Ed Slaughter, Flinders University Field School Students, Geoff Henderon, James Parkinson, Jim Anderson, John Howell, John Munro, John Patrick, John Riley, Lester Hunt, Liam Duncan, Lyall Mills, Malcolm Venturoni, Matt Schlitz, Matt Gainsford, Mark Staniforth, Nathan Richards, Peter Ferrier, Peter Taylor, Rebecca O'Reilly, Ron Green, Ross Anderson, Russell Stewart, Scott Allen, Tony Patterson, and Wendy Naylor. Rodney Beazley, Brooke O'Connor, Lauchlan Jackson and other staff of Parks Victoria in Queenscliff provided good company and transport to offshore the Mud and Duck Islands. Steve Smithyman also shared his extensive knowledge of the Swan Bay region. Rod Fenton, Peter Colter, Mark Osborne and Colin McIntyre assisted with information and access to Swan Island. We are grateful to archaeologists Ross Anderson, Shirley Strachan, Terry Arnott, Geoff Hewitt, Kieran Hosty, Fiona Weaver, Mark Staniforth, Peter Harvey, Cos Corneos, Ivar Nelsen, Sarah Myers, and Cathy Tucker, and members of the Maritime Archaeological Association of Victoria including Scott Allen, Peter Taylor, John Munro, John Osmond, Malcolm and Cate Venturoni, Lyall Mills, Jim Anderson, Eric Langenburg, Wayne Caldow and Nick and Andy Savva and any others for exchanging data and recollections of sites both above and below water.

We are particularly indebted to a number of people who went out of their way to assist this project. The staff/volunteers of the Queenscliff Historical Museum and Queenscliff Maritime Museum provided an extraordinary amount of information and time in guiding us through the history of the Borough. Many thanks go to: Jocelyn Grant, Les Irving Disting, Henry Hudson, Adrian Higgenbotham, Brian Marra, George Werry, Harry Mouchmore, June Negri, Margaret Evans, Margaret Wright, Michael Farrow Sandra Johnson, Rae Hill and countless other volunteers who have assisted with research over the years. We are indebted to the Geelong Heritage Centre staff, including Cheryl, Max and Dr. Jennifer Lewis; Steve Hughes (Fort Queenscliff Museum; the staff/volunteers of the Geelong Naval and Maritime Museum; and Rodney Nicholson of (Seagems Gallery) for the use of historical photographs. Thanks also to the staff Heritage Victoria including: Cassandra Philippou, Frances O'Neill, Jeremy Smith, Leah McKenzie, Liz Kilpatrick, Martin Zweep, Melissa Johnson, Patrick Miller, and Rebecca. Particular thanks go to Peter Harvey, Ross Anderson Shirley Strachan; and Mike Nash and the staff of National Parks and Wildlife Tasmania for their support of the project. Dr. David Roe and Dr. Rodney Harrison have also been sources of advice and inspiration for many years.

Several researchers provided access to their extensive research collections, practical expertise and knowledge: Adella Edwards, Bill Boyd, Bob Leak, Bob Marmion, Des Williams, Don Love, Geoff Dougall, Ivar Nelsen, Jim Anderson, Jim Monaghan, Jill Barnard, Henry Hudson, Judy Scurfield, Leonie Foster, Lauchlan Jackson, Malcolm and Cate Venturoni, Marji Puotinen, Peter Ferrier, Peter Munster, Peter Ronald, Ralph McDonnell, Steve Smithyman Terry Arnott and Zoran Kosanovic. Further assistance with maritime, historical archaeological information was provided by Adam Wolfe, Anthony Parker, Brian Williams, Christer Westerdahl, Colin Breen, David Nutley, Jeff Yugovic, Mack McCarthy, Marek Jasinski. Mike Etzal, Myra Stanbury, Richard Offen, Sally May, Thijs Maarleveld, and Tim Smith. I am particularly thankful for Peter Taylor's indefatigable assistance with archival shipwreck information (respectively). Much appreciated Pete!

A number of sources helped directly by funding this project. James Cook University provided a Doctoral APA/Doctoral Merit Research/Doctoral Completion scholarships which enabled one of the authors (Brad Duncan) to undertake the research. The PADI Aware (Australia) Foundation funded one season of fieldwork, as did Lyall Mills of West Coast Diving, Geelong.

Although everyone has added significantly to this project, a few people deserve special mention. This project would not have been possible without the generous assistance of Peter Ferrier and Don Love, both of whom spent lengthy periods outlining their intimate knowledge and personal research of the history and archaeology of the area and facilitating introductions to local informants. Jocelyn Grant and Les Irving Dusting both went out of their way to provide access to the collections of their respective museums/personal research, and to share their extensive knowledge of and ample enthusiasm for the Borough's heritage. John Patrick has provided an in-depth insider's perspective of many industries in Queenscliff and assisted extensively with surveys and research. All demonstrated a love for local Queenscliff history! Lyall Mills and Jim Anderson assisted extensively with fieldwork and background knowledge of underwater sites, and have spent many hours as tour guides pointing out sites. We would particularly like to thank Lyall for the provision of thousands of dollars worth of in kind fieldwork assistance, and professional and personal guidance. Thanks also to Tony Armstrong, for his kind provision of much needed local accommodation!

This book began as a Ph.D. project (for Brad Duncan). It would not have been possible without the help of my supervisors (and friends) Dr. Martin Gibbs and Dr. David Roe, whose assistance, guidance, good humour and patience have exceeded all my expectations—I owe you both big time!

Finally, but by no means least, we would like to thank our families, Brad—Tracey, Emily and Liam, and Martin—Melissa, Eliza and William, for their patience and support whilst we completed this book. I know it has been a very long road for you all!

To the many other people whose names we have forgotten (you all know how notorious we are at doing that), but whose faces and kind help are still fresh in our minds, we offer my profound thanks and apologies for not mentioning you here.

Contents

1 Introduction . . . . .	1
2 Shipping Mishaps and the Maritime Cultural Landscape . . . . .	7
Maritime Cultural Landscapes and the Archaeology of Maritime Communities . . . . .	8
Key Components of Cultural Landscapes . . . . .	10
Landscapes Are Physical and Cognitive . . . . .	10
What Cultural Landscape Is Not . . . . .	10
Land Versus Sea Divide . . . . .	11
Landscapes Are Continuous, Dynamic and Evolve Over Time and Space . . . . .	11
Landscapes Are Multivalent and Overlapping . . . . .	12
History Is Tied to Cultural Landscapes . . . . .	12
Other Landscape Components . . . . .	12
Landscapes of Movement (Sailing Routes) . . . . .	12
Empty Space Is a Significant Landscape Feature . . . . .	13
Authoritarian Structures Create Landscapes of Power and Resistance . . . . .	13
Technological Change Is a Dynamic Factor in Landscape Evolution and Change . . . . .	13
Actions and Events Are as Important as the Archaeological Signatures They Generate . . . . .	14
Alternative Sensory Perceptions and Ancestral Knowledge Are Key Indicators of Landscapes . . . . .	14
Environmental Change Shapes and Is Shaped by Cultural Landscapes . . . . .	14
Social Hierarchy Plays a Key Role in Landscape Formation and Change . . . . .	15
Alternative Landscapes Can Be Accessed Through Gender Studies . . . . .	15

- Cultural Practices, Ideologies and Beliefs Are Transported
 Along with People . . . . . 15
- Ritual, Superstition and Symbolism Play a Vital Role in the Determination of Landscapes . . . . . 16
- Maritime Cultural Landscapes and Shipwrecks . . . . . 16
  - Behaviour in Response to Shipping Crises: A Model . . . . . 17
  - Role of Risk in Maritime Cultural Landscapes. . . . . 20
  - Defining Shipping Mishaps . . . . . 22
  - Salvage . . . . . 24
- Methodological Approaches to Maritime Cultural Landscape Studies . . . . . 27
  - Documentary and Ethno-Historical Analysis . . . . . 28
  - Oral Histories and Folklore . . . . . 29
  - Toponymy . . . . . 31
  - Archaeological Data . . . . . 32
  - Thematic Approaches and GIS Data Manipulation . . . . . 32
- Conclusion . . . . . 33
- 3 Preparing for Shipping Mishaps . . . . . 35
  - Emergence of a Maritime Community . . . . . 35
    - The Foundation of Queenscliff . . . . . 39
    - Shipping Mishaps Around Port Phillip Heads . . . . . 42
  - Unofficial Risk Mitigation Strategies—Deliberate Stranding . . . . . 46
  - Official Mitigation Measures . . . . . 48
    - Port Phillip Pilots Service . . . . . 48
    - Lighthouse Service: Navigational Beacons and Lighthouses . . . . . 52
    - Hydrographic Surveying and Channel Deepening. . . . . 54
  - Long-Term Mitigation Responses . . . . . 54
    - Lifeboat Rescues . . . . . 55
    - Customs Services. . . . . 57
  - Conclusion . . . . . 58
- 4 Crisis Phase Responses . . . . . 59
  - Altruistic Responses to Wrecks . . . . . 60
    - First Response to Crisis: The Wreck Bell and Lifeboat Launching Procedures . . . . . 60
    - On-Site Rescue Procedures and Facilities . . . . . 63
  - Other Community Assistance in Shipwreck Rescues. . . . . 67
  - Philanthropic Responses . . . . . 68
  - Death and Burial . . . . . 69
  - Exploitation Responses to Shipping Crises . . . . . 70
  - Salvage Claims . . . . . 71
    - Financial Benefits of Lifeboat Crew Membership. . . . . 72
    - Wreck Tourism . . . . . 73

- Looting . . . . . 74
- Overindulgence . . . . . 79
- Camouflaging or Caching . . . . . 80
- Contraband in Houses and Public Places . . . . . 81
- Deliberate Wrecking? . . . . . 82
- Conclusion . . . . . 84

- 5 Mid- and Long-Term Responses . . . . . 85
  - Systematic (Official) Salvors . . . . . 85
  - Opportunistic Salvage: Flotsam/Jetsam Traps and Beachcombing . . . . . 95
  - Shipwrecks as Places . . . . . 100
  - Wreck Tourism . . . . . 101
  - Conclusion . . . . . 104

- 6 Landscapes of Risk Prevention and Mitigation . . . . . 105
  - Methods of Site and Place Identification . . . . . 105
  - Navigational Structures and Facilities . . . . . 107
    - Lighthouses and Associated Structures . . . . . 107
    - Beacons and Buoys . . . . . 113
    - Marine Beacons and Markers . . . . . 114
    - Lightships . . . . . 117
  - Other Mechanisms of Risk Mitigation . . . . . 120
    - Hydrographic Service . . . . . 123
  - Toponymy of Risk Management Landscapes . . . . . 125
    - Navigable Channels . . . . . 125
  - The Pilots Service . . . . . 127
    - Pilot Accommodation . . . . . 129
    - Pilot Anchorages . . . . . 130
    - Pilot Boats . . . . . 131
    - Offshore Activities: Transferal of Pilots . . . . . 135
    - Pilot Folklore and Toponymy . . . . . 136
  - Customs Service Landscapes . . . . . 137
  - Conclusion . . . . . 139

- 7 Landscapes of Crisis and Long-Term Response . . . . . 141
  - Crisis Response . . . . . 141
    - The Wreck Bell . . . . . 141
    - Lifeboat Service . . . . . 142
    - Shipwrecks . . . . . 148
    - Stranding Sites . . . . . 149
  - Post-crisis/Post-trauma Phase . . . . . 151
    - Shipwreck Victims . . . . . 152
    - Official Salvage . . . . . 156
    - Shipwreck Looting and Caching . . . . . 161

Beachcombing and Flotsam/Jetsam Traps . . . . .	165
Deliberate Wrecking Behaviour Revisited . . . . .	167
Conclusion . . . . .	170
8 The Social Landscapes of Shipping Mishaps . . . . .	171
Community and Crisis . . . . .	171
Formal Responses to Risk and Crisis . . . . .	176
Informal Responses to Risk and Crisis . . . . .	181
Religion and Commemoration . . . . .	181
Superstition and Traditions for Risk and Safety at Sea . . . . .	183
Social Structure . . . . .	185
Economies of Crisis . . . . .	187
Shipwreck Exploitation as Traditional Practice . . . . .	187
Tourism . . . . .	190
Souvenirs . . . . .	193
Shipwrecks and Dark Tourism. . . . .	194
The Creation and Manipulation of Folklore. . . . .	195
Modern Relationships to Shipping Mishaps. . . . .	196
Conclusion . . . . .	198
9 Conclusion . . . . .	199
Responses to Shipping Mishaps in International Perspective . . . . .	200
Lifeboat Service . . . . .	200
Wrecking . . . . .	201
Wreckers and Professional Salvors. . . . .	203
Opportunistic Looting and Beachcombing. . . . .	203
Smuggling . . . . .	205
The Ethno-Archaeological Approach . . . . .	206
Shipping Mishaps and Maritime Cultural Landscapes. . . . .	207
Maritime Cultural Landscapes Versus Regional Site Studies . . . . .	211
Conclusion . . . . .	212
References . . . . .	215
Index . . . . .	235

About the Authors

Dr. Brad Duncan is the State Maritime Archaeologist responsible for the Maritime Heritage Program at New South Wales Heritage Branch, Parramatta, Australia. He specialises in maritime cultural landscapes, historic maritime infrastructure studies, and fishing and defence landscapes. His current research projects include regional interpretation of the maritime cultural landscapes of coastal and inland waterways, the archaeology of shipbreaking and adaptive reuse of hulks, deep water wrecks, WWII sites in the Solomon Islands and remote sensing of convict sites on Norfolk Island.

Dr. Martin Gibbs is Professor of Australian Archaeology at the University of New England, Armidale, Australia. His maritime interests include the archaeology of maritime industries, cultural aspects of shipwreck site formation, shipwreck survivors and the processes of maritime colonisation. Current research projects include the archaeology of the sixteenth-century Spanish explorations and failed colonies of the Solomon Islands and studies of the convict system in Australia. He is also the author of 'The Shore Whalers of Western Australia: Historical Archaeology of a Maritime Frontier' (University of Sydney Press, 2010).