Science and Fiction – A Springer Series

This collection of entertaining and thought-provoking books will appeal equally to science buffs, scientists and science-fiction fans. It was born out of the recognition that scientific discovery and the creation of plausible fictional scenarios are often two sides of the same coin. Each relies on an understanding of the way the world works, coupled with the imaginative ability to invent new or alternative explanations - and even other worlds. Authored by practicing scientists as well as writers of hard science fiction, these books explore and exploit the borderlands between accepted science and its fictional counterpart. Uncovering mutual influences, promoting fruitful interaction, narrating and analyzing fictional scenarios, together they serve as a reaction vessel for inspired new ideas in science, technology, and beyond.

Whether fiction, fact, or forever undecidable: the Springer Series “Science and Fiction” intends to go where no one has gone before!

Its largely non-technical books take several different approaches. Journey with their authors as they

- Indulge in science speculation – describing intriguing, plausible yet unproven ideas;
- Exploit science fiction for educational purposes and as a means of promoting critical thinking;
- Explore the interplay of science and science fiction – throughout the history of the genre and looking ahead;
- Delve into related topics including, but not limited to: science as a creative process, the limits of science, interplay of literature and knowledge;
- Tell fictional short stories built around well-defined scientific ideas, with a supplement summarizing the science underlying the plot.

Readers can look forward to a broad range of topics, as intriguing as they are important. Here just a few by way of illustration:

- Time travel, superluminal travel, wormholes, teleportation
- Extraterrestrial intelligence and alien civilizations
- Artificial intelligence, planetary brains, the universe as a computer, simulated worlds
- Non-anthropocentric viewpoints
- Synthetic biology, genetic engineering, developing nanotechnologies
- Eco/infrastructure/meteorite-impact disaster scenarios
- Future scenarios, transhumanism, posthumanism, intelligence explosion
- Virtual worlds, cyberspace dramas
- Consciousness and mind manipulation

Acknowledgments

The seed for this book was sown at Loncon 3—the 72nd World Science Fiction Convention—during a discussion with Greg Benford, Nick Kanas, Angela Lahee, and Chris Caron. Thank you all for a stimulating conversation. I'd also like to thank Chris's ongoing guidance during the writing process: he gently pulled me back whenever I went off at a tangent.

A number of people, including Stephen Dow, Eric Mauk, Dave Robinson, and professors Steven Cummer, Francisco Lobo, Sir John Pendry, and David Schurig, freely gave their time and advice as I was chasing down photos and graphics. I appreciate their help.

My thanks, as always, go to Heike and Jessica for their support—and, in this digital age, for their tolerance of my ever-growing collection of paper-based books and magazines.
