

Higher Education Dynamics

Volume 51

Series Editors

Peter Maassen, University of Oslo, Norway

Johan Müller, School of Education, University of Cape Town, Rondebosch,
South Africa

Editorial Board

Alberto Amaral, CIPES and Universidade do Porto, Portugal

Akira Arimoto, Hyogo University, Japan

Nico Cloete, CHET, Pretoria, South Africa

David Dill, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, USA

Jürgen Enders, University of Bath, United Kingdom

Patricia Gumpert, Stanford University, USA

Mary Henkel, Brunel University, Uxbridge, United Kingdom

Glen Jones, University of Toronto, Canada

Scope of the Series

Higher Education Dynamics is a book series intending to study adaptation processes and their outcomes in higher education at all relevant levels. In addition it wants to examine the way interactions between these levels affect adaptation processes. It aims at applying general social science concepts and theories as well as testing theories in the field of higher education research. It wants to do so in a manner that is of relevance to all those professionally involved in higher education, be it as ministers, policy-makers, politicians, institutional leaders or administrators, higher education researchers, members of the academic staff of universities and colleges, or students. It will include both mature and developing systems of higher education, covering public as well as private institutions.

More information about this series at <http://www.springer.com/series/6037>

Ly Thi Tran • Simon Marginson
Editors

Internationalisation in Vietnamese Higher Education

 Springer

Editors

Ly Thi Tran
School of Education
Deakin University
Burwood, VIC, Australia

Simon Marginson
Centre for Global Higher Education
UCL Institute of Education
London, UK

ISSN 1571-0378

ISSN 2215-1923 (electronic)

Higher Education Dynamics

ISBN 978-3-319-78490-8

ISBN 978-3-319-78492-2 (eBook)

<https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-319-78492-2>

Library of Congress Control Number: 2018944152

© Springer International Publishing AG, part of Springer Nature 2018

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are reserved by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Printed on acid-free paper

This Springer imprint is published by the registered company Springer International Publishing AG part of Springer Nature.

The registered company address is: Gewerbestrasse 11, 6330 Cham, Switzerland

Contents

1	Internationalisation of Vietnamese Higher Education: An Overview	1
	Ly Thi Tran and Simon Marginson
Part I Policy and Practice in Internationalisation
2	Vietnamese Government Policies and Practices in Internationalisation of Higher Education	19
	Lan Hoang, Ly Thi Tran, and Hiep-Hung Pham
3	Current Perspectives on Internationalisation of Quality Assurance at the Institutional Level	43
	Quyen T. N. Do
4	The ‘Advanced Programmes’ in Vietnam: Internationalising the Curriculum or Importing the ‘Best Curriculum’ of the West?	55
	Ly Thi Tran, Huong Le Thanh Phan, and Simon Marginson
5	Transnational Education in the Vietnamese Market: Paradoxes and Possibilities	77
	Nhai Nguyen
6	Impacts of International Organizations on Vietnam’s Higher Education Policy: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly	99
	Diep-Ngoc Tran
7	English-Medium-Instruction Management: The Missing Piece in the Internationalisation Puzzle of Vietnamese Higher Education	119
	Huong Thu Nguyen

Part II Student Mobility, Employability and Contributions

8	Historical Trends of Vietnamese International Student Mobility	141
	Chi Hong Nguyen
9	International Students' Choice of Destinations for Overseas Study: A Specific Push-Pull Model for Vietnam	161
	Hiep-Hung Pham
10	International Students' Aspirations to Contribute to Socioeconomic Development in Vietnam	177
	Lien Pham
11	Employers' Perspectives on Vietnamese Returnee Students	201
	Anh Pham
12	From Brain Drain and Brain Gain to Brain Circulation: Conceptualizing Re-Expatriation Intentions of Vietnamese Returnees	217
	Nga Thi Thuy Ho, Pi-Shen Seet, and Janice Jones
13	Vietnamese Students' Transition to International Non-Government Organisations	235
	Lan Thi Quynh Mai
14	Internationalisation of Vietnamese Higher Education: Possibilities, Challenges and Implications	253
	Ly Thi Tran and Simon Marginson
	Index	259

List of Contributors

Quyên T. N. Do is a research candidate at the Melbourne Center for the Study of Higher Education, the University of Melbourne, Australia. Her research interests include educational effectiveness, university governance, quality assurance and improvement, particularly accreditation and benchmarking. Quyên was previously Manager of Quality Assurance Research and Accreditation, Institute for Education Quality Assurance, Vietnam National University-Hanoi, Vietnam.

Nga Thi Thuy Ho PhD is a lecturer at Hue University College of Economics, Vietnam. She received her Master of Professional Accounting at The University of Sydney, Australia. She completed her PhD at Flinders Business School, Flinders University, Australia. She was a lecturer at Flinders International Study Centre, Flinders University. She has several publications related to re-entry experiences and re-expatriation of professional returnees.

Lan Hoang is a doctoral student of the Department of Educational Administration and Policy Studies at the State University of New York (SUNY) at Albany and Doctoral Research Assistant at the Program for Research on Private Higher Education (PROPHE). She completed her M.Ed. in Higher Education Administration from SUNY Buffalo in 2010 under the Fulbright Foreign Student Program. Hoang's areas of interest include higher education public policy, university governance, and comparative private higher education. Her research has focused on the emergence of the private sector, its role in reshaping the landscape of higher education, and institutional development as (dis)incentivized by public policy and in the context of the Internationalisation.

Janice Jones PhD is a senior lecturer at the Flinders Business School, Flinders University, South Australia. Her research interests include talent management in the Asia Pacific region, training and development, and innovation management in Small and Medium Sized Enterprises (SMEs).

Lan Thi Quynh Mai PhD is a researcher at the Institute for Education Quality Assurance, Vietnam National University – Hanoi. She was awarded a scholarship of Vietnam Ministry of Education to do PhD degree at School of Sociology, the University of Queensland, Australia and was conferred Doctor of Sociology in 2015. She was also the recipient of UQ scholarship to complete Master of Social Planning and Development in 2002–2003. She is interested in research on graduate attributes, curriculum reform, university-work transition, graduates' work experience, intercultural workplace, intercultural competence, cultural mediation, and cultural intermediary.

Simon Marginson PhD is Professor of International Higher Education at the UCL Institute of Education at University College London in the UK. Previously (2006–2013) he was Professor of Higher Education at the University of Melbourne. He is Director of the ESRC/HEFCE Centre for Global Higher Education (CGHE), and Editor-in-Chief of the journal Higher Education. His most recent books are The Dream is Over: The crisis of Clark Kerr's California Idea of higher education (University of California Press, Berkeley, 2016), and Higher education and the common good (Melbourne University Publishing, Melbourne, 2016).

Huong Thu Nguyen PhD obtained her doctoral degree in the University of Queensland in 2016, looking at the use of English as the medium of instruction in Vietnamese higher education. She has recently returned to her English teaching job in Foreign Trade University in Vietnam where she teaches English for Specific Purposes (ESP) and English for Academic Purposes (EAP). Her research interests include globalisation and higher education policy, internationalisation of higher education, university governance, medium of instruction, and language policy and planning.

Chi Hong Nguyen PhD received his Bachelor of Education from Can Tho University in Vietnam, and Master of Education and PhD from the University of Queensland in Australia. He is currently Head of the English Department at Can Tho FPT University. His main research areas include transnational mobilities of skilled migrants, international student mobilities, Vietnam's human capacity building, and international education.

Nhai Nguyen PhD is a senior lecturer in professional communication at RMIT University, Vietnam. She has woven 14 years of research, teaching and industry experiences in the design, development and delivery of Professional Communication, Higher Education, Cultural Studies, and English Language Education. She has published extensively with prestigious journals and publishers and won a number of awards and fellowships including Australian Leadership Award and CIES 2016 International Travel Award for Distinguished Service in Educational Reforms.

Anh Pham PhD is an associate research fellow at RMIT University, Melbourne. She has 15 years of teaching, research and consultancy experiences in English language education and internationalisation of higher education in Vietnam. Her research focused on the contribution of transnational higher education to urban workforce development in East-Asian cities. She has also worked in a voluntary capacity with organisations in Vietnam and Australia including UNESCO Cultural Exchange Programs in Vietnam. She has presented a number of papers at international conferences and has begun publishing her research work as book chapters and journal articles.

Hiep-Hung Pham is a PhD candidate at Chinese Culture University, Taiwan ROC. His research interests include student mobility, deregulation and commercialisation of higher education. Pham also works for University World News as Vietnam correspondent.

Lien Pham PhD is a lecturer in the Graduate Research School at the University of Technology Sydney. Her research and publications are in international education, sociology of education, development and social change in Southeast Asia. She has consulted for various New South Wales government agencies in policy-focused research and evaluations, and UNESCO Bangkok on educational policy reforms in Asia Pacific. She has received a number of travelling grants from the Human Development and Capabilities Association and the British Association of International and Comparative Education (2014–2016) to present her research on Vietnamese overseas graduates' contribution to national development.

Huong Le Thanh Phan began her career as a lecturer at Foreign Trade University, Vietnam. She obtained her Master's degree in Linguistics at Vietnam National University and her Master's degree in International Economics and Finance at the University of Queensland, Australia. Huong is currently undertaking her PhD at the School of Education, Deakin University, Australia. Her doctoral project aims to offer a comparison of Australian and Vietnamese institutional contexts with regard to exploring the internationalisation of the curriculum in particular disciplines. Huong's research interests include language and culture issues, language assessment, and international education with a specialisation in internationalisation of the curriculum.

Pi-Shen Seet PhD is Professor at the School of Business and Law, Edith Cowan University, Western Australia. He completed his PhD at the Judge Business School, University of Cambridge, and has held various academic appointments at the University of Adelaide and Flinders University in South Australia. His researches mainly among countries in the Asia-Pacific with an increasing focus on emerging economies in the region. His current research interests include global talent flows, international entrepreneurship, knowledge-based innovation, Small and Medium Sized Enterprises (SMEs) and family business succession strategies.

Diep-Ngoc Tran earned her Master of Public Policy from Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand. Her research interests include governance of higher education, the politics of privatization and marketisation and comparative public management. She currently works as a senior international affairs officer at Vietnam National University, Hanoi. Diep plans to pursue her doctoral studies in education.

Ly Thi Tran PhD is an Associate Professor in the School of Education, Deakin University and an Australian Research Council Future Fellow. Ly has been awarded four grants on international student mobility and staff professional development in international education from the Australian Research Council. Ly's book, 'Teaching international students in vocational education: New pedagogical approaches', won the International Education Association of Australia (IEAA) Excellence Award for Best Practice/Innovation in International Education. She has recently won the Vice-Chancellor's Award for Mid-Career Researcher for her outstanding contribution to research.

List of Figures

Fig. 6.1 The World Bank’s involvement in Vietnam’s higher education from 1998 to 2017 (World Bank 1998, 2009, 2014)
 HEDOI*: Higher Education Development Policy Program – First Operation
HEDOP2: Higher Education Development Policy Program – Second Operation
HEDOP3: Higher Education Development Policy Program – Third Operation
HEP1: The First Higher Education Project
HEP2: The Second Higher Education Project
HEDPP: Higher Education Development Policy Program
NMUP: New Model University Project. 104

Fig. 6.2 The World Bank’s investment in Vietnam’s higher education from 1998 to 2017 (World Bank 1998, 2009, 2014) 105

Fig. 6.3 Second higher education project organizational chart (Dang 2009, p. 64). 108

Fig. 9.1 A specific model of pull-push factors underlining of Vietnamese students study abroad. 163

Fig. 12.1 FDI inflows into Vietnam. (US$ million, Source: UNCTAD (2015)). 218

Fig. 12.2 Vietnam’s GDP growth rate in 2000–2013 (%). (Source: The World Bank (2015)) 218

Fig. 12.3 Outbound mobile Vietnamese students studying tertiary abroad. (Source: UNESCO (2016)). 219

Fig. 12.4 A conceptual framework explaining the re-expatriation intention of Vietnamese returnees 224

List of Tables

Table 2.1	Vietnam’s government approach to internationalisation of HE (Source: Authors compiled from T.-P. Nguyen (2014)) . . .	24
Table 2.2	Higher education internationalisation goals set by the government 2013 (Source: Authors compiled from government’s strategic plan for higher education international integration 2013)	26
Table 2.3	Distribution of joint and twinning programs by source region	30
Table 2.4	Distribution of joint and twinning programs by field of study	31
Table 2.5	Universities established in the “excellent university” project	32
Table 4.1	List of advanced programmes, participating institutions and partner institutions	63
Table 6.1	Summary of three international organizations’ drivers of intrusion in Vietnam’s higher education	113
Table 7.1	Types of EMI-Based Programs in Vietnamese HE	120
Table 9.1	List of top sourcing countries of international students in 2006 and 2010	162
Table 9.2	Examples of newly opened, non-traditional courses in recent years	167
Table 9.3	Examples of courses get accredited by international bodies	170
Table 9.4	Tuition fees for international students at some Taiwanese universities in academic year 2014–2015	171
Table 9.5	Examples of exchange programs between Vietnamese and Taiwanese universities/colleges	171