

Part I. Elements of Convex Analysis

In Part I we present those elements of convex analysis that play a significant role in nonlinear elliptic problems and especially in those that arise from global differential geometry.