Die ökonomische Analyse des Rechts untersucht Rechtsnormen auf ihre gesellschaftlichen Folgewirkungen und bedient sich dabei des methodischen Instrumentariums der Wirtschaftswissenschaften. Sie ist ein interdisziplinäres Forschungsgebiet, in dem sowohl Rechtswissenschaftler als auch Wirtschaftswissenschaftler tätig sind und das zu wesentlichen neuen Erkenntnissen über Funktion und Wirkungen von Rechtsnormen geführt hat. Die Schriftenreihe enthält Monographien zu verschiedenen Rechtsgebieten und Rechtsentwicklungen. Die Buchreihe wird als Fortsetzung der Reihe „Ökonomische Analyse des Rechts“ geführt.

The economic analysis of law examines legal norms drawing on the economic approach. The analysis does not only include the consequences of legal norms but also the determinants of their emergence. It is an interdisciplinary research program in which both lawyers as well as economists are active. Over the last half century, some of its contributions have lead to important insights regarding the emergence, the functioning, as well as the effects of legal norms. This series is a forum for contributions to the economic analysis of law broadly conceived. The book series is a continuation of the series Economic Analysis of Law.

Acknowledgments

I am grateful to Emma Aisbett and Michael Faure for the guidance and wisdom that they shared with me through the course of my doctoral research. I have been equally inspired by the quality of their academic work and by their work attitude. Their example set the bar high, as their encouragement and trust gave me confidence to move forward. This work has also benefitted from the insightful exchanges and valuable feedback from Jean-Philippe Platteau, Thomas Eger, Boudewijn Bouckaert, Dean Lueck, Ian Ayres, Elliot Niboye, Benedict Mongula, Cathbert Tomitho, Severine Rugumamu, Jonathan Klick, Anja Tolonen, Niels Kemper, Marco Fabbri as well as from conference participants at the 2016 and 2017 World Bank Land and Poverty Conference, the 2016 Development Economics and Policy Conference of the Research Group on Development Economics of the German Economic Association, the 2017 LANDac Annual Conference, the 2017 Colloquium of the Université d'Abomey-Calavi, the 2015 and 2016 Annual Conference of the European Association of Law and Economics, the 2014 Annual Conference of the Italian Association of Law and Economics, and the EDLE meetings and seminars at the Rotterdam Institute of Law and Economics, at the Hamburg Institute of Law and Economics, and at the Economics Faculty of the University of Bologna. I want to thank the Institute of Development Studies of the University of Dar es Salaam and the staff at Hakiardhi for welcoming me and sharing their knowledge about land acquisitions in Tanzania. This work was made possible by the EDLE faculty and staff, of which Marianne Breijer-de Man deserves a special mention for her patience and support through the years. I am also very grateful to the staff and partner organisations of the European Master in Law and Economics, and in particular to C. Veeramani, P.G. Babu and Thomas Eger for letting me rediscover, at the right moment, the pleasure of research. A big thank you to my fellow EDLE students for sharing this wild ride and being there for each other. A special thought to Ahmed, Akiva, Cintia, Danny, Joé and Orlin for encouraging and supporting me all the way. To my friends everywhere, thank you for always being there for me. A big shout out to Jasper for the love, the patience and the neverending support... and to Marco, mom and dad for everything.
