SpringerWienNewYork

Stefan Sonvilla-Weiss (ed.)

MASHUP CULTURES

SpringerWienNewYork

Professor Dr. Stefan Sonvilla-Weiss
ePedagogy Design – Visual Knowledge Building
Aalto University Helsinki / School of Art and Design

With financial support of the Austrian Federal Ministry of Science and Research Vienna and Aalto University, School of Art and Design Helsinki.

This work is subject to copyright.

All rights are reserved, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically those of translation, reprinting, re-use of illustrations, broadcasting, reproduction by photocopying machines or similar means, and storage in data banks.

Product Liability: The publisher can give no guarantee for all the information contained in this book. The use of registered names, trademarks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

© 2010 Springer-Verlag/Wien
Printed in Germany

SpringerWienNewYork is part of Springer Science+Business Media springer.at

Cover Illustration and Design: Stefan Sonvilla-Weiss
Copyediting: Cindy Kohtala
Printing: Strauss GmbH, D-69509 Mörlenbach

Printed on acid-free and chlorine-free bleached paper
SPIN: 12725670

With 41 figures

Library of Congress Control Number: 2009942196

ISBN 978-3-7091-0095-0 SpringerWienNewYork

Contents

Acknowledgements	7
Introduction: Mashups, Remix Practices and the Recombination of Existing Digital Content Stefan Sonvilla-Weiss	8
Distributed Creativity: Filesharing and Produsage Axel Bruns	24
The Virtual Art Garden: A Case Study on User-centred Design for Improving Interaction in Distant Learning Communities of Art Students Brenda Castro	38
“You met me at a very strange time in my life.” Fight Club and the Moving Image on the Verge of ‘Going Digital’ Doris Gassert	49
Creativity, Participation and Connectedness: An Interview with David Gauntlett David Gauntlett	65
Mobilizing the Imagination in Everyday Play: The Case of Japanese Media Mixes Mizuko Ito	79
Multiculturalism, Appropriation, and the New Media Literacies: Remixing Moby Dick Henry Jenkins	98
Sexton Blake & the Virtual Culture of Rosario: A Biji Owen Kelly	120
On the Database Principle – Knowledge and Delusion Torsten Meyer	136

Regressive and Reflexive Mashups in Sampling Culture Eduardo Navas	157
Change of Media, Change of Scholarship, Change of University: Transition from the Graphosphere to a Digital Mediosphere Christina Schwalbe	178
A Classroom 2.0 Experiment Noora Sopula & Joni Leimu	189
Communication Techniques, Practices and Strategies of Generation “Web n+1” Stefan Sonvilla-Weiss	204
Playing (with) Educational Games – Integrated Game Design and Second Order Gaming Wey-Han Tan	223
Tepidity of the Majority and Participatory Creativity Tere Vadén interviewed by Juha Varto	239
Glossary	246
About the Authors	253

Acknowledgements

First and foremost I would like to thank all the authors who contributed so heartily to the successful completion of this volume. It has been a great pleasure to experience the motivating and encouraging mental support from the expanding community around the international MA study programme ePedagogy Design – Visual Knowledge Building at Aalto University – School of Art and Design Helsinki in cooperation with University Hamburg.

Therewith inseparably connected is our shared interdisciplinary curriculum, exchange of information and knowledge that greatly benefited our students, lecturers, professors and stakeholders. Thus my gratitude goes to the “Hamburg team”, Prof. Torsten Meyer, Wey-Han Tan, Christina Schwalbe, Ralf Appelt and the “Helsinki team”, Owen Kelly, Prof. Martti Raevaara and Prof. Juha Varto for substantially supporting the idea, implementation, maintenance and sustainability of this international study and research collaboration.

Since my intention was to bring this community into a new and refreshing dialogue with international cutting-edge thinkers and scholars working in media-theoretical, -practical and -educational contexts, I am indebted to the spontaneous acceptance from Henry Jenkins, David Gauntlett, Mizuko Ito, Axel Bruns and Eduardo Navas to contribute to this book, which appears on the occasion of the fifth anniversary of this international study programme.

In a similar vein, I'd like to thank my master's and doctoral students and graduates for their valuable input and research projects for which this publication should give enough stimuli and motivation to continue with their work. Mashup is also a project work topic students are engaged with this year, and the project results will be discussed and further developed at our next international seminar.

Special thanks goes to Cindy Kohtala who patiently proofread all texts and the final manuscript, and Owen Kelly for reviewing and critical remarks.

Last but not least, I'd like to thank my wife Barbara for the countless inspiring “garage talks” and motivating support during the life-span of this book project.