

Dynamics of Asian Development

Series editor

Anthony P. D'Costa, Carlton, Australia

Editorial Board

Tony Addison, Helsinki, Finland
Amiya Bagchi, Kolkata, India
Amrita Chhachhi, Rotterdam, The Netherlands
Akira Goto, Bunkyo, Japan
Barbara Harriss-White, Oxford, UK
Keun Lee, Seoul, South Korea
R. Nagaraj, Mumbai, India
Rene E. Ofreneo, Baguio, Philippines
Rajah Rasiah, Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia
Ma Rong, Beijing, China
Ashwani Saith, Rotterdam, The Netherlands
Gita Sen, Bangalore, India
Andrew Walter, Melbourne, Australia
Christine Wong, Oxford, UK

The series situates contemporary development processes and outcomes in Asia in a global context. State intervention as well as neoliberal policies has created unusual economic and social development opportunities. There are also serious setbacks for marginalized communities, workers, the environment, and social justice. The rise of China, India, and new dynamism of South Korea, Indonesia, and Vietnam in East and South East Asia have given a new meaning to Asian development dynamics. Japan's energetic ties with India and Vietnam, Korea joining the OECD's Development Assistance Committee, and China and India's investments and foreign aid in Africa and Latin America are some of the new processes of development whose impact transcends the vast Asian region. Globalization compounds uneven development, affecting macroeconomic stability, internal and international migration, class and caste dynamics, gender relations, regional parity, education and health, agriculture and rural employment, informal sector, innovation possibilities, and equity. Thus the series views development studies as an unfinished agenda of economic, social, political, and cultural interactions in a fluid policy and global contexts. The editor, with the assistance of a distinguished group of development scholars from Asia and elsewhere specializing in a variety of disciplinary and thematic areas, welcomes proposals that critically assess the above-mentioned wide-ranging developing issues facing Asian societies. With Asia's contemporary transformation, the series promotes the understanding of Asia's influence on the prospects of development elsewhere. The editor encourages interdisciplinary, heterodox approaches within the social sciences, and comparative work with solid theoretically informed empirical research. Critical development policy debates in Asia and regional governance issues that have a bearing on development outcomes are also sought.

More information about this series at <http://www.springer.com/series/13342>

Nandini Ghosh
Editor

Interrogating Disability in India

Theory and Practice

 Springer

Editor
Nandini Ghosh
Institute of Development Studies Kolkata
Kolkata
India

ISSN 2198-9923 ISSN 2198-9931 (electronic)
Dynamics of Asian Development
ISBN 978-81-322-3593-4 ISBN 978-81-322-3595-8 (eBook)
DOI 10.1007/978-81-322-3595-8

Library of Congress Control Number: 2016945108

© Springer India 2016

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are reserved by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made.

Printed on acid-free paper

This Springer imprint is published by Springer Nature
The registered company is Springer (India) Pvt. Ltd.

Acknowledgements

The chapters published in this volume are revised and updated editions of papers presented in a two-day multidisciplinary conference titled “Interrogating Disability: Theory and Practice”, held on 27 and 28 September 2012 at the Institute of Development Studies Kolkata. The conference was the first of its kind in India. As the convener of the conference, I appreciate the encouragement provided by Prof. Amiya Kumar Bagchi, Emeritus Professor of the Institute. Dr. Ramkrishna Chatterji provided the critical support for organizing the conference. I would like to thank all my colleagues and staff at IDSK who have been with me through the process of publishing this book.

A big thanks to all the contributors who have painstakingly reworked their papers and waited patiently for the publication of this book.

Kolkata

Nandini Ghosh

Contents

1	Introduction: Interrogating Disability in India	1
	Nandini Ghosh
2	The Models Approach in Disability Scholarship: An Assessment of Its Failings	23
	Shilpaa Anand
3	Diversity at Workplace and in Education	39
	Tanmoy Bhattacharya
4	Right to Care, Home and Family: Ethics of Responsibility Towards Persons with Disability	65
	Rukmini Sen
5	Living Arrangement and Capability Deprivation of the Disabled in India	77
	Achin Chakraborty and Subrata Mukherjee
6	The Right to Be Different: Autism and Advocacy in Urban India	97
	Shubhangi Vaidya
7	Power and Leveraging in a Disability Context	111
	Madhura Nagchoudhuri and Srilatha Juvva
8	Negotiating Femininity: Lived Experiences of Women with Locomotor Disabilities in Bengal	127
	Nandini Ghosh
9	Women and Men at Work: Livelihood Experiences of Persons with Disabilities (PwD) in West Bengal	145
	Ipsita Sapra

10 The Disability Rights Movement in India: Its Origin,
Methods of Advocacy, Issues and Trends 167
Jagdish Chander

11 Disabled People’s Organizations in India:
Assertions and Angsts 183
Nandini Ghosh

Editor and Contributors

About the Editor

Nandini Ghosh is an assistant professor of sociology at the Institute of Development Studies, Kolkata. She has a bachelor's degree in sociology from Presidency College Kolkata, a master's degree from the University of Calcutta, and a Ph.D. from the Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai. Her areas of interest are qualitative research methodology, sociology of gender, marginalization and social exclusion and social movements. She has coedited a book titled Pratyaha Everyday Lifeworlds: Dilemmas, Contestations and Negotiations (Primus 2015). Her other publications include "Bhalo Meye: Cultural Construction of Gender and Disability in Bengal", in Renu Adlakha (ed.), Disability Studies in India: Global Discourses, Local Realities (Routledge India, 2013) and "Sites of oppression: Dominant ideologies and women with disabilities in India", in Tom Shakespeare (ed.), The Disability Research Reader: New Voices (Routledge UK, 2015). (nandinighosh@gmail.com)

Contributors

Shilpaa Anand is an assistant professor, Department of English, Maulana Azad National Urdu University. Her research interests are disability history, culture and corporeality, disability studies and the humanities. (shilpaanand@gmail.com)

Tanmoy Bhattacharya is associate professor in linguistics at the Centre for Advanced Studies in Linguistics, University of Delhi. He was the coordinator, Equal Opportunity Cell of the University of Delhi, and was the convenor of the UGC Committee on Higher Education and Disability. His core areas of interest are language and disability, disability and education, sign linguistics and deaf education. (tanmoy1@gmail.com)

Achin Chakraborty is professor of economics at the Institute of Development Studies, Kolkata. His research interests include welfare economics, human development, health economics and microeconomic issues in development economics. (achinchak@gmail.com)

Jagdish Chander teaches political science at Hindu College in New Delhi. He has a Ph.D. degree in disability studies from Syracuse University, and his interests include research on different aspects of lives of disabled people. (jagdish100@gmail.com)

Srilatha Juvva is an associate professor, Centre for Disability Studies and Action, School of Social Work, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai. Her research interests include mental health, disability, family therapy and disaster and mental health issues. (juvvas@tiss.edu)

Subrata Mukherjee is an associate professor at the Institute of Development Studies, Kolkata, and actively engaged in teaching M.Phil. courses and research. He has a Ph.D. in Economics from Jawaharlal Nehru University, Delhi, through the Centre for Development Studies (Kerala). His areas of research interests are quality, inequality and financing-related issues in health and health care issues of the elderly. He is a founder member and former joint secretary of the Indian Health Economics and Policy Association. (msubrata100@gmail.com)

Madhura Nagchoudhuri is an assistant professor, Centre for Equity and Justice for Children and Families, School of Social Work, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Mumbai. Her areas of interest include gender, disability and education. (madhuranag@tiss.edu)

Ipsita Sapra is an associate professor, School of Livelihoods and Development, Tata Institute of Social Sciences, Hyderabad. She has a Ph.D. degree in social sciences from TISS, Mumbai, and has undertaken research in the area of disability and livelihoods and disability policies. (ipsita.sapra@tiss.edu)

Rukmini Sen is an associate professor, School of Liberal Studies, Ambedkar University Delhi. She teaches courses on law and society, relationships and affinities, women's movements and researching the rural. She is currently working on her manuscript, Exploring the Everyday, (Re)-constructing the Social: Smriti-katha as Sociological Sites (forthcoming, Cambridge University Press, India). She is the coeditor of a special issue of the Journal of Indian Law and Society (January 2016) "Indian Feminisms, Law Reform and the Law Commission of India: Special Issue in Honour of Lotika Sarkar". (senrukmini18@gmail.com)

Shubhangi Vaidya is an assistant professor at the School of Inter-Disciplinary and Trans-Disciplinary Studies, Indira Gandhi National Open University, Delhi. She is a sociologist with current research interests in the interdisciplinary areas of disability studies, gender studies, labour and development and education. Her doctoral thesis is an ethnographic exploration of families of children with autism spectrum disorder, and she has presented and published research papers in the area of gender and disability. She has also written self-learning instruction materials for IGNOU's M.A. programmes in anthropology, sociology and women and gender studies. (svaidya2404@gmail.com)