Acknowledgments

I would like to thank Myriam Poort, Editorial Director Social Sciences at Springer Science+Business Media, who invited me to write this volume. I am grateful to Dennis de Hoog and Marieke Matthijs for their collegiality, stimulating discussions and incisive comments on an earlier version of this publication. Marieke Matthijs also provided invaluable research assistance for one of the case studies. My inspiring conversations with Astrid Meland have also helped shape some of the ideas presented in this volume. I am very grateful to Maryann Martin for her expert editing. Part of the research on which this volume is based was conducted for the European Commission Sixth Framework Program project Transnational Terrorism, Security and the Rule of Law (TTSRL). Information on the TTSRL project can be found at <http://www.transnationalterrorism.eu>. I thank Taylor & Francis for permission to include material from “The Enigma of Lone Wolf Terrorism: An Assessment”, Studies in Conflict & Terrorism, 33 (2010): 854–870. This article has been updated, fully revised and expanded into book-length form for publication.
