The Asia and Pacific regions, with a population of nearly three billion people, are of critical importance to global observers, academics, and citizenry due to their rising influence in the global political economy as well as traditional and nontraditional security issues. Any changes to the domestic and regional political, social, economic, and environmental systems will inevitably have great impacts on global security and governance structures. At the same time, Asia and the Pacific have also emerged as a globally influential, trend-setting force in a range of cultural arenas. The remit of this book series is broadly defined, in terms of topics and academic disciplines. We invite research monographs on a wide range of topics focused on Asia and the Pacific. In addition, the series is also interested in manuscripts pertaining to pedagogies and research methods, for both undergraduate and postgraduate levels. Published by Palgrave Macmillan, in collaboration with the Institute of Asia and Pacific Studies, UNNC.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I am grateful to Dr Ivaylo Gatev for his untiring support and guidance, and for funding my trip to Northeast China in 2014 without whom this project would have remained a pipe dream. I am also grateful to Dr Catherine Goetze, Dr Christopher Pierson, Dr Miwa Hirono, Dr Jonathan Sullivan, and Dr Gregory Moore from the University of Nottingham for their help during different periods of my research. Thanks to the financial support from the Institute of Asia Pacific Studies and the Graduate School of the University of Nottingham, Ningbo, China, to my travel for presenting my research at conferences in Nottingham, Shenzhen, Seoul, and Beijing was made possible.

Finally, my family, especially my parents, gave me a reason to believe; their financial and emotional support made this job more than worthwhile.
